Unknown—in 5 Years Fame, That's Lindy

From an obscure student flier in 1922 to a world-famous figure within five years—that tells the story of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, young hero of the air, whom Pittsburgh honors today. Born in 1902, Lindbergh has traveled a quick road to glory and today his name overshadows that of kings and princes in the public mind.

Lindy is a city boy and a small town boy, for he was born in Detroit but when he was 4 years' old he moved to the country. He received a part of his grade school education in Washington, D. C., attended high school in Washington, Detroit and Redondo, Cal., and was graduated from the Little Falls, Minn., high school. After completing his high school course, Lindbergh entered the University of Wisconsin at Madison, where he remained for a year and a half.

His first airplane training was received at a Lincoln, Neb., flying school in 1922. He did not complete his training there but rounded out his experience in various other ways as his means permitted.

ENTERED AIR CORPS IN 1924.

In March, 1924, Lindbergh took up military training with the United States Army Air Corps at Brooks Field, San Antonio, Tex., and in 1925 he was graduated from Kelly Field as a second lieutenant in the Reserve Flying Corps. He then turned to commercial flying in St. Louis and in 1926 began flying the air mail for the Robertson Aircraft Corporation between Chicago and St. Louis. About the same time he joined the Missouri National Guard and re-

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—The stock market broke 3 to neraly 16 points on the first onslaught of selling which followed President Coolidge's statement that he did not choose to be a candidate in 1928 and immediately staged a remarkable recovery which substantially reduced, or wiped out, most of the early losses and carried a few issues to record high levels.

The initial break, while unusually severe, was by no means demoralizing. Offerings appeared to come

Mayor Kline Envisions Treasury Secretary as Candidate.

If President Coolidge decides not to seek another term, Pennsylvania may have a Republican President in the person of Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon, said Mayor Charles H. Kline in a statement last night.

The declaration of President Coolidge that he does not "choose" to seek another term in 1928 seemed to surprise the political leaders of the county when it was read to them.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Political candor or political cunning?

As hot a political debate as the country has witnessed in years raged today about President Coolidge's enigmatic declaration that he does not "choose" to run for the Presidency next year, with opinion sharply divided as to whether he is displaying political candor or

Mr. Hearst Foresaw Coolidge Decision

IN A series of interviews given in June and July at New Orleans, Charleston, Savannah and Jacksonville, William Randolph Hearst gave his opinion as to the Presidential situation and the probabilities for the next campaign. Concerning President Coolidge Mr. Hearst was quoted as believing strongly that when the silent occupant of the White House broke forth with a declaration of his intentions in 1928 it would be the announcement of a decision not to be a candidate. Mr. Hearst said:

"I gave interviews in Charleston, Savannah, Jacksonville and New Orleans stating that Mr. Coolidge would not run for a third term; that the feeling against the third term would become very intense during the campaign and that this would be the dominant issue of the next election. I said that I thought Coolidge would rather stand with Washington against the third term than break the historic precedent. The field is open to Mellon, Hoover, Dawes, Longworth, etc., now that the President is retired."

Bush Sends Kremer to Mound

Ray Kremer, right-hander of the Pittsburgh Pirates, will face the Philadelphia Quakers in the first game of a four-game series at Forbes Field this afternoon.

Clarence Mitchell, southpaw spitballer, who defeated the Pirates in Philadelphia on their last trip through the east, is due to oppose the Corsairs.

Stung by three successive defeats at the hands of the Braves, the result of which sent them down to second place, one and one-half games behind the Chicago Cubs, the Pirates are hopeful of regaining the ground lost at the expense of the Phillies.

Four games are scheduled with the Phillies, a double-header being on the program for tomorrow afternoon. This dual bill was originally scheduled for today, but owing to the visit of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, trans-atlantic flyer, to Pittsburgh the two contests were shifted to tomorrow.

CITY'S THOUSANDS GREET LINDY, AIR AMBASSADOR

Pitt Stadium Crowd Waits Patiently for Air Hero.

(By Direct Wire to Sun-Telegraph Office.)

PITT STADIUM, Aug. 3.—Col. Lindbergh flew over Pitt Stadium at 1:55 o'clock. A great cheer arose from the crowd as the silver-white "Spirit of St. Louis" circled over the arena, flying low and fast.

By that time 25,000 persons had assembled, and every ramp steadily poured forth more. All streets leading to the stadium were thronged and traffic in the vicinity was dense.

After executing a turn at what seemed a precarious angle, the Flying Colonel headed for Bettis Field.

COLORFUL SIGHT

The huge Pitt bowl presented a colorful sight. Flags and red, white and blue banners were draped about in abundance. In the middle of the gridiron was a speaker's platform, banked by beautiful flowers. Army officers and policemen were stationed about the platform. A cluster of "loud speakers" overhung the stand.

Two bands provided entertainment while the crowd waited. Vocal soloists, singing through megaphones, also took part in the program.

Despite the weather man's prediction of probable showers the sky was cloudless and the sun shone brightly.

Peanut and candy venders circulated through the crowd and apparently enjoyed brisk sales. One hawker

Thousands See "We" Fly Over Downtown Pittsburgh.

Lindy kept his date with Pittsburgh today almost on the dot, landing at Bettis Airport at 2:02 o'clock.

A mighty roar from thousands of throats—a wild oubturst of unrestrained cheering — announced the appearance of "We" above the airport. Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and the Spirit of St. Louis appeared in the sky above Pittsburgh at 1:55 p. m., about eight minutes behind an escort plane.

As the silvery hull of the plane hove into view, hundreds in office buildings risked life and limb leaning out windows to see the "Flying Colonel" cross the city, and other hundreds dashed to roofs for better view.

Then "We" reached Bettis Field. A graceful droop, a gentle roll, and Lindy stepped out of his cabin to receive perhaps the greatest ovation ever accorded a citizen by the people of Greater Pittsburgh.

20,000 AT FIELD

More than 20,000 greeted him whe he stepped from his ship, and about the field were parked more than 8,0 automobiles.

He circled three or four times, wi the eyes of the McKeesport distri on him, performed a series of stun then made a perfect landing.

directly to the hangars, where Mayor Charles H. Kline and his reception committee waited to bid him official welcome to the City of Pittsburgh.

PILOT PLANE GREETED

Lindbergh's route between Cleveland, whose guest he was yesterday, and Pittsburgh was routed out by a Fairchild monoplane bearing Donald E. Keyhoe, official of the Department of Commerce and business manager of Lindbergh's tour of the United States. Pilot Philip R. Love, student-companion and fellow airmail flier of Lindbergh's, and Mechanic Theodore Sorensen. The pilot ship arrived before Lindbergh came into sight and was greeted with a roar intended only for the Ambassador of the Air.

Hours before the daring young flier was due to land at Bettis Field, McKeesport, in his famed "Spirit of St. Louis," the advance guard of the huge crowds which lined the march of his triumphal parade were pouring into highways and streets converging toward McKeesport. Highways within a radius of 100 miles of Bettis Field were jammed with traffic. Police Superintendent Peter P. Walsh estimated that 40,000 automobiles, bearing 250,000 people, would come in during the day.

TRAFFIC LIMITED

Supt. Walsh, who is in personal command of the police assigned to protect Col. Lindbergh, instructed his aids to turn back all motorists from the direction of the field when parking space in the vicinity was filled. Their instructions were to give those turned back the line of march which Col. Lindbergh will follow immediately after landing to go to the University of Pittsburgh Stadium, where seats for 80,000 have been provided.

The official reception committee, of which Mayor Charles H. Kline was chairman, met in the City Council chamber at noon where 22 limousines were waiting to take the members to the field.

Immediately after landing Col. Lindbergh will enter Mayor Kline's car and was driven through West Homestead, Carson street and over the Smithfield Street Bridge to Smithfield street, to Grant street and Bigelow boulevard to the stadium.

On arrival at the stadium Col. Lindbergh was driven slowly around the great bowl that Pittsburghers there may obtain a "close-up" view of him. He then mounted a plat- made his first address to the people of Pittsburgh.

When ceremonies at the stadium are over he will enter his machine and be driven down Bigelow boulevard to Forbes street, through the Boulevard of the Allies to Grant street, to Oliver avenue and the William Penn Hotel, where, after a conference with newspapermen, he will rest until 7 p. m. when the official city banquet will begin in the ballroom of the hotel.

PARKING TIGHT

Parking space in side streets along the route of the parade was at a premium as early as 10 a. m. D. Barr Peat, manager of Bettis Field, announced that when the field offices were opened at dawn 100 automobiles were parked with those determined to be on hand when the noted visitor arrives. Meadows, pastures and open spaces of every description were beginning to fill up. Boys with big yards were reaping a harvest from those anxious to park in the vicinity of the field or along the route of the parade.

County Detective Chief George W. Murren and eight men went to Bettis Field at 10 o'clock. They will accompany Col. Lindbergh throughout the day, particularly on the watch-out for pickpockets. In plain clothes they will mingle with the crowds expected to pack and jam near the noted aviator.

Between 5,000 and 10,000 had gained entrance to the vicinity at noon and are waiting Lindbergh's arrival. On the southern and eastern sides of the flying field officials parked 2,500 automobiles, while hundreds of others were along roads.

Between 11 and 12 o'clock, Merle Moultrup, chief air mail pilot at Bettis Field, entertained with stunt flying.

CROWDS ORDERLY

Stands erected about the field were packed. Pittsburgh police taken to the field this morning were having no difficulty in controlling the crowds. No jams or casualties were reported at noon.

McKeesport Hospital established an emergency branch at Bettis Field this morning, with Miss Minnie Werry, supervisor of nurses, and Dr. Clifford Bryce, in charge.

Pittsburgh and Dravosburg officials disagreed in handling the traffic. Pittsburgh traffic men believed the Dravosburg road to the field, carrying traffic from Pittsburgh past Kennywood Park and through Duquesne, should be closed. In deference to the Dravosburg protest, the road was left open. No tie-ups in the movement of traffic was reported at noon.

Th only road closed was the main Pittsburgh-McKeesport road from Lincoln Place to Bettis Field, part of the route over which Lindbergh was carried into Pittsburgh for the ovation at the University of Pittsburgh stadium.

MAYOR KLINE VISIONS MELLON

lected by the President with care led many leaders here to believe that he may be persuaded to seek another term.

County Commissioner E. V. Babcock, former mayor, said that if President Coolidge is not a candidate for re-election "Pennsylvania is a state not without presidential timber."

A. L. Humphrey, president of the Westinghouse Airbrake Company, who was a delegate to the Cleveland convention in 1924, voiced what seemed to be the sentiment of business men here when he said, "The statement of the President was a great disappointment and shock. He has been a wonderful President."

Leaders here made the following statements:

W. L. MELLON, nephew of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, Republican chairman and president of the Gulf Refining Company—I greatly regret the decision of the President if the story is true. I have nothing more to say at this time.

COUNTY COMMISSIONER E. V. BABCOCK, former Mayor of Pittsburgh and candidate for re-election as commissioner—I was greatly surprised to read the report that President Coolidge is not a candidate for re-election. During my visit with him last month I saw nothing to discourage his going forward. On the contrary, I am quite sure he had won the hearts of the people not only of South Dakota but of North Dakota, Wyoming and other states. I saw evidences of sufficient reasons for the President to succeed himself. If he is not, Pennsylvania is a state not without presidential timber.

MAYOR CHARLES H. KLINE—I was amazed indeed to read in the public press tonight that President Coolidge would not be a candidate to succeed himself. He has, during the tenure of his office, done much in his quiet but forceful way for the people of the nation, and I know it is the wish of the American people that, because of his labors for America and her wonderful institutions, that he would unhesitatingly be a candidate for another term. By virtue of his action, perhaps, Pennsylvania may realize her fondest dream by having for the first time a Republican President. I know of no one who is better qualified and who has done so much for the nation than the present Secretary of the Treasury—Andrew W. Mellon, of Pittsburgh.

FORMER CONGRESSMAN JAMES FRANCIS BURKE, counsel for the Republican National Committee during the last two campaigns, chairman of the steering committee of the Cleveland convention of 1924 that nominated President Coolidge, who recently presented to the President the results of a poll that purported to show that the sentiment of the country favored him for re-election—The statement of President Coolidge is not only a surprise to the Republican Party but to the country in general. My opinion is that he still will be prevailed upon to yield to the pressure of the country. In saying this I am guided by the results of my poll of the country, which revealed the most pronounced feeling in favor of the President's re-nomination and re-election that has existed since the Civil War.

JOSEPH G. ARMSTRONG, chairman of the Board of Allegheny County Commissioners, chairman of the Allegheny County Republican Committee, confidante of State Chairman W. L. Mellon—President Coolidge has been a wonderful president. During his administration the country has been prosperous. That is due to his efforts to reduce the national debt and taxes, assisted as he has been by our fellow Pittsburgher, Secretary Mellon. It would be a shame to break up that combination.

STATE SENATOR JAMES J. COYNE, chairman of the Pittsburgh Republican City Committee—I regret that President Coolidge does not choose to be a candidate in 1928. I have nothing further to say.

—United States Senator David A. Reed of Pittsburgh left Sunday for Europe and could not be reached.

2 German Planes Take Air for U. S. Flight Test

DESSAU, Germany, Aug. 3.—(International News Service Wire.)—Air Pilots Von Koehl and Loose, Ristich and Etzard hopped off at 5:10 a. m. and 5:50 a. m., respectively, today in two Junker all-metal, 320-horsepower monoplanes on an endurance trial between Dessau and Leipzig. These airplanes are intended for flights to the United States.

The four pilots—two to a machine—planned to fly back and forth between the two cities so long as their fuel held out. Each plane carried two tons of gasoline, which was calculated to be sufficient to beat Clarence D. Chamberlin's record of about 51 hours.

Although overburdened, the machines took off perfectly from a specially constructed runway 750 yards long, built of concrete.

CROWD WAITS AT STADIUM

was seen selling photos of "Lindy" and his famous plane.

The south grand stand, or that occupied by the Pitt contingent at football games, was packed solidly up to the last few rows by 2:15 o'clock. The opposite side was about one-quarter filled.

Brilliant hats, dresses and parasols and the red coats of bandsmen brightened the scene.

Amplifiers sent band music and singers' voices ringing clearly to all parts of the huge bowl. As bare parts of the stadium began to be filled, the echo, until then quite local, was less pronounced. The crowd became enthusiastic over a series of accordion solos.

At least a dozen camera men were assembled at the west portal to the stadium, where the Lindy entourage was scheduled to enter.

STILL THEY CAME

By 2:30 o'clock the assemblage had grown to about 25,000—and still they came.

Decoration of the midfield speakers' stand was a work of art. Sloping from the railing to the ground, on all four sides, was a mass of carnations, lilies, snap dragons and ferns.

ceived a captain's commission in the flying corps.

In 1922 Lindbergh did stunt flying and parachute jumping in the Far West. In 1925 he had his first experience in a forced parachute jump when his plane collided with another pursuit plane flown by Lieut. McCallister. Both Col. Lindbergh and Lieut. McCallister landed unhurt.

Since that time Col. Lindbergh has made three other parachute jumps, two of which were made while he was flying the air mail between St. Louis and Chicago, and in each of these instances he was flying in fog.

GETS BACKING FOR "THE HOP."

Such was his life until he conceived the idea of competing for the $25,000 prize offered for the first flight between New York and Paris. At first he had a hard time getting backing but finally persuaded some St. Louis business men to put up a big part of the money and he himself invested $2,000 in the flight. The aid of these business men led to naming the other half of the famous "We" combination the "Spirit of St. Louis."

Now the "Spirit of St. Louis" was something of an eye-opener to the public at large. It hadn't paid much attention to Lindy until one day the newspapers heralded that he was flying "blind" across the country to New York to get ready for the Paris hop. "Blind" meant that he could not see in front of him, but had to guide but the use of a periscope which permitted a view of a half-mile ahead.

The periscope on Lindy's plane is necessary because the cockpit is entirely enclosed and is placed to the rear of all fuel tanks for safety and balance. The periscope consists of two 45-degree mirrors suitably mounted and reflects the image on the instrument board directly in front of the pilot. It can be extended on the left hand side of the fuselage at about eye level or can be drawn in out of the way. Additional visibility is obtained through windows at each side of the fuselage and by a skylight in the wing. An air scoop provides fresh air in the cockpit at all times.

ENGINED WITH "WHIRLWIND."

For the rest of the plane, it is powered by a stock model Wright "Whirlwind" motor. It averages in excess of 250 hours between overhauls. Expressed in automobile terms, this means that the engine travels approximately 25,000 miles before requiring attention. The ultimate life of the engine is approximately 2,000 hours, which means an ultimate life of approximately 200,000 miles. Col. Lindbergh made approximately 10 miles a gallon on his flight to Paris.

The wing is of conventional and fabric construction, being built in one piece. In plan form the tip of the wings is an airfoil. Four fittings above the gasoline compartment in the fuselage and the outboard struts attach the wings to the fuselage. The outboard struts are of steel, having an airfoil section giving some lift. The fuselage is of welded steel tubing. No wires are used for bracing. The gasoline tanks were designed to have a capacity of 425 gallons. In the fuselage are two tanks, one 210 gallons in the center of the fuselage and another 88 gallons in front of it in the engine mount. In the wing are three smaller tanks with a volume of 152 gallons, giving a total capacity of 450 gallons. Only this tremendous fuel-carrying capacity enabled Lindbergh to make his famous flight.

TANKS EMERGENCY FLOATS.

If the plane had been forced down over the ocean Lindbergh could have pumped his load of gasoline out of the plane to keep it afloat. A hand pump beside the pilot's seat enables him to pump gasoline from gear it is of the split axle type and hinged at the lower longeron.

The gross weight of Lindbergh's plane on the take-off to Paris was 5,150, about the greatest load ever lifted up to that time with a single-engined plane.

THINKS OCEAN HOPS CERTAIN.

Lindbergh believes that transatlantic airplane travel is certain to come, but before this is accomplished the United States will be crisscrossed with a vast network of commercial airways over which aircraft will fly on regular schedules carrying passengers, freight and express and the mails. Airplanes today, he says, are reliable, fairly economical and high in performance.

Just what the next 10 or 15 years will mean in the aeronautical fields, according to Lindy, is hinted at in the evolution of the airplane during the last 10 years. Just a few years ago there were few commercial planes. They were merely converted war-time craft, many of which were not always in the best of condition. Lindy cites that today is the beginning of an era of huge passenger planes and mail planes, especially designed for a maximum of safety and comfort with inclosed cabins, upholstered seats, heating apparatus, ventilation systems, lights, wheel brakes and other improvements.

STOVE GOES DOWN IN FRAY, UP GOES "CLUB"

The "boys' clubhouse" in the lot at the foot of Bakewell street, near California, is in ruins today. A makeshift stove, in which "members" were roasting potatoes, upset last night during a scuffle and resulted in almost complete destruction of the shed.

PRESIDENT CAUSES STIR

political cunning by his peculiarly worded statement.

If Mr. Coolidge really means to take himself out of consideration for 1928 he will have to put his intention in more positive words before the hard-boiled politicians in the capital will believe it. The great majority of Republicans now in Washington are unwilling to scratch his name on the basis of the 10 startling words that emanated from Rapid City yesterday in such dramatic fashion.

That presents the view of the average Republican politician in Washington. As viewed by these practical politicians, Mr. Coolidge's statement is calculated to remove whatever stigma there might be to standing for another term, without at the same time removing himself entirely from the picture. He is now in the position of not, openly at least, seeking a third term. Therefore, if the Republican convention next year should proceed to nominate him anyway he can accept with resignation and solemnly declare: "The will of the people."

On the other hand, there is a small group of Republican leaders who have always cherished the private belief that Mr. Coolidge would not again be a candidate. These Republicans regard the President's enigmatic statement as a confirmation of their views, and they were saying today "I told you so."

RACE NOW ON

The same practical politicians who believe that Mr. Coolidge's disavowal of candidacy is in reality a bid for renomination also believe that it will be extremely difficult to renominate him after the country gets thoroughly saturated with his declaration. They point out that Mr. Coolidge has now extended an open invitation to all his rivals—Herbert Hoover, Frank O. Lowden, Charles G. Dawes, William E. Borah and others—to get into the race, and there are few who believe the invitation will be ignored.

Special sport events were staged and prizes were awarded to the winners. A. S. Davis was general chairman and Paul Jones was vice chairman. The sports program was in charge of William Haddock, Joseph Mackrell and Ralph Winslow.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—The public debt of the United States has been slashed $1,149,000,000 in the last year, the Treasury announced yesterday.

This cut more than fulfilled the expectations of Secretary Mellon, who months ago expressed the hope that the reduction would amount to a billion dollars.

AIMEE AND 'MA' BURY HATCHET IN QUARREL

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug 3.—(INS.)—"Aimee and 'Ma' have made up."

That was the reassuring message circulated today among members of Aimee Semple McPherson's million-dollar Angelus Temple regarding the bitter quarrel of the evangelist and her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy.

A conference of attorneys representing both founders of the great religious enterprise reached a tentative settlement of their dispute. Fundamental conditions of the agreement, it was understood, are that "Mother" Kennedy, whom her daughter ousted as active manager of the temple several days ago, will surrender her management of church finances for half of the $100,000 personal property held jointly by her and "Sister."

She will continue as an adviser and trustee, the attorneys' announcement stated, but Mrs. McPherson will take over actual control.

The division of property will not affect Angelus Temple and its palatial Bible school.

Coolidge Statement Viewed by Nation

President Coolidge's statement that he does not "choose" to run for President in 1928 drew this comment from men in public life:

VICE PRESIDENT DAWES: His decision will be received with regret by millions of his countrymen.

HERBERT HOOVER, Secretary of Commerce: I regret the suggestion in the President's statement. However, I still believe as I stated in Chicago two weeks ago, that President Coolidge should be renominated and re-elected.

WILLIAM M. BUTLER, chairman of Republican National Committee: I am not convinced he will not run if nominated.

FORMER GOV. LOWDEN, of Illinois, Republican: I know of no man in all our history who has run away from the Presidency.

FRANK W. STEARNS, close personal friend of the President: I can't see that there is much to be said.

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT, who nominated Gov. Smith at last Democrat convention: Interesting; if conclusive.

SENATOR SMOOT, Republican, Utah: I believe if the Republican convention decides that it wants him to run he will do so.

SENATOR SHIPSTEAD, Farmer-Labor, Minnesota: Cal came and he saw and sensed the revolt of the West.

WILLIAM ALLEN WHITE, Kansas editor: Until he says rather definitely, "Take your messy job and stick it in the mud," he probably will remain in the hands of his friends, one of whom I hope to be.

SENATOR CAPPER, Republican, Kansas: It places the responsibility squarely with the Republican party.

DR. NICHOLAS MURRAY BUTLER, president of Columbia University: He has shown that principle which takes precedence over personal ambition.

CHARLES D. HILLES, vice chairman Republican National Committee: I think he intends to be final.

SENATOR MOSES, Republican, New Hampshire: Whoever succeeds him as party leader will none the less carry the Coolidge banner.

SENATOR M'LEAN, Republican, Connecticut: It might mean he will not refuse the nomination if tendered him.

SENATOR JOHNSON, Republican, California: It is a most astonishing thing.

SECRETARY OF INTERIOR WORK: It will be a great misfortune to the country if he will not consent to be renominated.

MINERS' TERMS MUST STAND, FAGAN SAYS

"If there is to be a settlement of the coal strike it must be on the basis of the miners' terms," said President P. T. Fagan, of District No. 5, United Mine Workers of America, commenting on the action of the Governor of Ohio in endeavoring to interest the Governors of Indiana and Illinois to arrange a joint conference to end the struggle.

"It would be advisable, however, to include the Governor of Pennsylvania in arranging for such a gathering, as western Pennsylvania is a part of the central competitive field, involved in the present contest. The action of the Governor of Ohio is most commendable, but the miners will not return to work except on the basis of no reduction in wages."

EAST END REAL ESTATE IN EXCHANGE

Completion of a real estate exchange, the whole consideration for which was $150,000, between H. P. Kuhn and Ira and W. C. Smith, involving property in the East End district and in Gibsonia, was announced today by the Lloyd Real Estate Company.

The East End property located at the corner of Ravena and Carron streets, between South Highland and Shady avenues, contains 30,000 square feet and is improved with a brick garage rented to the Penn-Buick Company under a long-term lease. The Gibsonia property consists of a building, railroad siding and tipple.

Charles J. Barrone has purchased property 101½x162 feet at Center and Millvale avenues in the East End from the Pennsylvania Rubber Company for $77,500. The Real Estate Company of Pittsburgh was the broker.

DOWNTOWN LEASE

Part of the former site of the American State Bank Building on the corner of Sixth and Grant streets at Dante way, abandoned when Grant street was widened, has been leased to the United Cigar Stores Company for 12 years for a total rental of $60,000 by the American Bank company, 604 Grant street. The cigar stores company will erect a one-story storeroom on the plot.

J. A. Gibson & Co. has sold for the Rauwolf estate to Joseph Samuels the property at 920 West North avenue, North Side, which consists of a 15-room dwelling on a lot 40x100. Mr. Samuels bought the property for a private consideration.

CONTRACTS LET

Contract for foundation on the Frontenac Apartments at South Highland avenue and Howe street has been awarded to the Navarrow Company. The same contractor obtained the excavation work for a new apartment at Bayard and Melwood streets, and for Park Mansions at Woodlawn avenue and Frew street.

This Year---

— — as in every other year McCann's have attempted more—accomplished more. The watchwords of our organization are "Progress" and "Service"; our merchandise is simply the tool with which we serve.

Can there be any doubt of McCann's leadership when you realize that since the beginning of 1927 new records have been made in nearly every department in our store?

33,216 pounds (16½ tons) of "Perfect" Butter sold over the week-end (Friday and Saturday)—49,919 pounds (nearly 25 tons) of Pork Loins in a similar period! 21,195 pounds (over ten tons) of coffee and 5,280 pounds, (2½ tons) of Fresh Boston Mackerel in one day. 11,820 Watermelons, (12 cars) in one week! Have you ever heard of such sales in a single retail store?

A Shopper's Parking Lot—

And then, as a service for the convenience of our patrons, we established a most unique Shopper's Parking Lot — a small charge for periods up to two hours (15c the first hour) increasing after that in a way that makes it almost prohibitive to park longer.

Ten uniformed, trained men are waiting to receive your car; carefully marked stalls and a heavy woven wire fence insure its safety. It's just a step from the store to the Lot.

A Wholesale Annex—

A most unique departure from the usual course of food merchandising. An open front store which features original package merchandise to the retail trade at wholesale prices!

We recognize that leadership entails obligations. It is our purpose to continue to use our tools (buying power, merchandise and sales volume) to benefit and serve the community—and you if you will permit us.

Fleeing, He Kidnaps Youth

Believed to have been kidnaped by an escaped trusty from the county workhouse late yesterday, Thomas Fogle, Jr., 26, of 912 Wheeler street, was being sought by city and county detectives and posses of friends. It is believed that Fogle was either beaten and thrown from his machine or forced to drive the workhouse inmate out of the district.

A short time after Fogle's disappearance, workhouse officials reported the escape of A. L. Scears, alias Sam Allman, 26, a trusty. It is believed Allman or Scears was wearing the workhouse uniform.

Young Fogle went to Rogers flying field, near Aspinwall, with Thomas Hiffin, 17, of Lincoln road, Wilkinsburg. Hiffin saw Fogle driving away in the machine with a stranger.

NO FRILLS ON HER 101ST BIRTHDAY

International News Service Wire.

Philadelphia, Aug. 3.—Mrs. Mary A. Knapp, of Montgomery Square, Pa., will be 101 years old tomorrow.

Mrs. Knapp announced she will celebrate her anniversary quietly in her garden and old colonial house, a relic of pre-Revolutionary days, which antedates her birth.

The property once belonged to George Preston Moore, close friend of George Washington, who is said to have been Preston's guest during the Valley Forge campaign.

Local Police to Go On Water Wagon! What for? Query

The Pittsburgh police force will go on the water wagon today.

Charles A. Hillegas, superintendent of highways and sewers, ordered a water wagon sent to the Pitt Stadium for the Lindbergh reception.

"Lindbergh can't drink all that water even if he is a teetotaler," objected John Flinn, head of Division One, to whom the order was given.

"It isn't for Lindbergh. It's for the 400 policemen assigned there," explained Hillegas.

"What do 400 Pittsburgh policemen want with a water wagon?"

BURNED BEARINGS are common occurances in these forgetful days of diluted oil in the crank case.

Crank cases should be drained and oil renewed periodically—when old "procrastination" extends the change to the danger line it is a safe plan to use an oil that has the maximum resistance to heat and dilution—then if you forget—you are safe.

RICHMAN FORCE GIVEN BONUS

CLEVELAND, Aug. 3.—Employes of Richman Bros., manufacturing retail clothiers, of this city, received today from the firm a cash bonus equaling 5 per cent of their payroll earnings from Jan. 1 to July 1 of the present year.

This means that every employe of the firm will receive $5 in cash for every $100 he has earned in wages during this period, and is in addition to an extra dividend of $5 per share which was distributed to all holders of common stock on July 1, together with the regularly quarterly dividend of $1.50 per share. Since 90 per cent of the Richman employes are stockholders in the firm, most of them have therefore received a double bonus.

This follows a "melon cutting" last February, when extra dividends of 10 per cent in stock and $5 in cash were distributed. The $5 cash dividend virtually amounted to $5.50, as it was paid after the stock dividend. So that with the July 1 disbursement the Richman dividends so far this year will have totaled 10 per cent in stock and $14.50 in cash, aggregating $2,500,000. Another $1.50 regular dividend will be due Oct. 1, making $16 for the year.

The Richman company paid 100 per cent in stock in 1923, 25 per cent in stock in 1926 and $15 cash in 1922. A considerable portion of the stock currently quoted on the Cleveland Stock Exchange at $201 a share was sold to employes at $50 a share.

DARING EXPLOIT OF U-BOATS

Berlin—Capt. Paul Koenig's daring exploit of taking the merchant submarine Deutschland into Baltimore harbor and back to Bremen during the war, despite the vigilance of Allied submarine destroyers, has been put into a movie. The film, which bears the title, "U. Deutschland," was twice interdicted by the board of film censors, but has finally been released by the chief censor.

Capt. Koenig was on the welcoming committee which greeted Clarence Chamberlin and Charles A. Levine at Bremen on behalf of the North German Lloyd, when the two ocean flyers came to Bremerhaven to meet their wives.

Weather Conditions.

The barometer is still relatively high over this section, and the high pressure stretches westward over the northern states to Montana. The high, however, is weakening, and cloudy weather has set in from the Ohio Valley southward over Kentucky and Tennessee, and westward to the Rocky Mountains, and rain is falling this morning over southern Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky. This cloudy and rainy condition is due to a low pressure area developing northward over Arkansas and Tennessee.

The temperatures continue considerably below the normal.

New Fall Colors

Introduced Last Night at the New York Fashion Show

At the Autumn Fashion Show of the Garment Retailers of America, last night, in the Hotel Astor, New York, the colors which will influence styles in the fall season were presented.

And we, through our advance work with the fashion producers, are able to show these shades now, in our collection of New Fashions for Late Vacation and Indian Summer wear. It will be well worth any woman's time to see the displays in the Fashion Sections and the Millinery Salons, exploiting the following Fashion Show colors and their variations:

Blugrain, a fascinating cold, slatey blue, the color of a November twilight in the country.

Autan, which, because the name has a double meaning, is sometimes a beige with a rosy tone, and again a deep Havana brown.

Rubrique, a luscious red, like the dregs of wine, warm and magnificent.

D'Orange, an alluring, warm, orangey pink tint, the shade of the sunset of a hazy autumn day, when all the best of a departed summer is revived again.

Black Satin Crepe Highly Favored for Fall

For the street or afternoon dress which may be just what is needed to fill a gap in the mid-summer wardrobe. This is a silk light enough in weight to be comfortable for summer wear, but which is sure to remain smart—indeed, to gain in chic—as the season progresses.

Black is mentioned everywhere that fall fashions are mentioned. And satin is recognized as important. The flattering, slenderizing combinations of materials of different textures or colors also continue to be good, and there is no more effective combination than one using both sides of a good satin crepe.

This material is 39 inches wide. It has a deep, lustrous sheen on one side, and a distinctive pebbled weave which shows up in the dull crepe face. $2.95 yard.

SAYS FILIPINOS CHECK SUPPLY OF RUBBER

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Aug. 3—(AP)—The Philippine Islands were pictured to the Institute of Politics today as a possible producer of two-thirds of the yearly rubber supply of the United States. Lack of agreement between Americans and Filipinos thwarts the rubber development, speakers said.

Prof. Halston Hayden, who accompanied Col. Carmi Thompson on an official tour of the islands last year, said that the Filipinos unaided cannot achieve the production peak, but are in a position to make it impossible for Americans to do so.

Miss M. A. Pugh, of the United States Department of Commerce, submitted statistics showing that there are 1,300,000 acres of potential rubber land on the southern island of Mindanao and the Sulu Archipelago.

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

Physician's Prescription Reduces Many Cases; Sufferers Feel Comfortable

Thousands who have dizzy spells, sleeplessness, nervousness, shortness of breath, hot flashes, and pains in the head have been told by physicians or insurance examiners that they have high blood pressure. High blood pressure should be checked at once as it overtaxes the heart and often leads to serious results.

Norma, a doctor's prescription for the treatment of high blood pressure, has brought wonderful relief to thousands. As high blood pressure is a sign of some disorder or disturbance of the system, it is advisable to discover the cause and treat it medically or hygienically while taking Norma.

Although Norma does not remove the cause of high blood pressure, it reduces most forms of pressure thereby relieving the resulting dizziness, thumping in top of head, nervousness, head pains, sleeplessness and other distress and helps you to feel comfortable. One bottle often gives great relief. Many have so testified. Give Norma a chance to help you. Get a bottle today at May's Drug Stores and all good druggists.—(Advertisement.)

Pfarr Opens Probe of Fire Adjustments

Fire Marshal Thomas L. Pfarr today launched a sweeping inquiry into practices of private insurance adjusters in Allegheny county.

With four men held in an arson plot on the North Side the fire marshal announced determination to end collusion, which he said was the mainstay of such crimes. One of the men held, Simon Rosenthal, of Beacon street, recently entered the insurance adjustment business.

A member of the ring was expected to make a full confession to the fire marshal this morning. He was to be interviewed at the county jail.

"I am convinced that 58 per cent of all fires are of incendiary origin," Pfarr said. "About 17 per cent are set for spite and the rest are set for gain.

"The condition couldn't exist without collusion on the part of private insurance adjusters. I'm not going to leave a stone unturned to rout out the crooked ones."

Lindbergh's greatest achievement was due to efficiency—the efficiency of the man and the efficiency of every unit in his plane and its equipment. A compass and a Waterman's were Lindbergh's two mainstays—the points of one to guide his course; the point of the other to record his progress.

Pen efficiency results in the selection of the proper nib and the size of holder. Make the right selection and the pen will carry you on to the finish.

'GOAT' CHARGES DOCTOR WITH MURDER

International News Service Wire.

COURT HOUSE, FRANKLIN, La., Aug. 3.—Dr. Thomas E. Dreher fired the shots that ended the life of James Lebouef, at Morgan City, the confession of James Beadle, made public here today by Sheriff Charles Pecot, alleged.

Beadle unexpectedly turned state's witness yesterday after assertions by members of his family that Dr. Dreher was trying to make him "the goat" in the charges of first degree murder against Dreher, Beadle and Mrs. Ada Lebouef, for which the trio are being tried.

"On July 1, late in the afternoon, Dr. Dreher came to my house and asked me to go out with him hunting, which I did," Beadle's confession said.

"When we got well advanced out in that pasture he told me he had come out there to kill that ——— Jim Lebouef. I said, 'No, Doctor, don't do that.' He said, 'Yes, I am going to do it, and if you open your mouth about this I am going to kill you.' And he made me pull the boat until we met that man Jim Lebouef."

MEN WOO WOMEN WITH WOOD

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—A wooing custom on the island of Formosa was explained by E. H. de Bunsen, consular service, Japan, to the Royal Geographical Society.

"Marriage among the Tsalien Paiwans," he said, "is a matter of individual choice, and not of family arrangement. The proposal can come from either party, but it is usually the man who makes it.

"The manner of wooing is peculiar. After taking steps to acquaint the woman, through a third party, what his intentions are, the suitor takes a bundle of firewood by night and leaves it outside the door of the house where she lives. If the bundle is taken inside the house, it is a sign that he may continue his suit; if left 'in situ' it is an indication that his advances are rejected."

Eventually, if all goes well, he is one evening invited to enter, and such an invitation is held to constitute a binding engagement.

For reckoning small amounts firewood passes for value in Formosa.

ICE CREAM MEN GO ON STRIKE

By Universal Service.

LONDON, Aug. 3.—Selling American "hot dogs" at a British football game when the weather was luke warm last fall was not so bad, but the ice cream cyclists of London who pedal miniature ice cream wagons along the streets have gone on strike. They complain about the frigid weather which has prevailed in London this summer.

The cyclists of one of the largest ice cream distributors in London assembled outside the plant today and demanded a salary of 75 cents a day instead of sixty, and an increase in the percentage of profits.

The issue hung in the balance while the directors considered the demands, but they finally made an announcement which read:

"We have come to a compromise and everybody is happy."

FIGHTING PARSON ROLE IS KEN MAYNARD'S NEXT

"Gun Gospel," in which Ken Maynard has the role of a two-fisted, two-gun minister, will go into production this week. Maynard has just finished "The Red Raiders," the first of the second series of six pictures for First National and "Gun Gospel" is the second. In "The Red Raiders" Maynard has the colorful role of a cavalry officer, whose job is to put the Indians on the first of the government reservations.

PROMINENT PLAYWRIGHT DOES ONE FOR MOVIES

"The Life of Riley," in which George Sidney and Charlie Murray, celluloid comics, are being featured, was written especially for them by Mann Page, playwright. Page has written for the screen as a side-line to his stage-play writing for a period of 11 years. He has to his credit 52 full-length modern feature pictures. Howard J. Green adapted "The Life of Riley."

MY SON'S SWEETHEARTS

By Ida McGlone Gibson

"You know I've been in love with you all these years, and you know for the last two years love has always been trembling on my lips, and when tonight I had determined to tell it to you again and for the last time I knew by your face that it was useless."

"Yes, it is useless, John," said Anne with a sigh. "This morning Phil promised me that for two years at least he will not marry Pat, but he also exacted from me a promise that I would leave him alone."

"Selfish, arrogant young cub," said John Aukland under his breath.

"What did you say, John?" asked Anne.

"Nothing, dear, except that tonight I'm going to accept your decision. I have been putting off for nearly a week an answer which I was to give the Near East expedition, hoping against hope you would tell me you cared for me, and we could go home together. I have seen from the first that Philip disliked me and I knew that if it ever came to a showdown between us it would be I that would lose out. Tomorrow I shall tell the expedition that I will go with them."

"Then you'll go soon?" asked Anne.

"Probably the day after tomorrow, and as I shall have much to do, I shall not see you again."

"John, John, you're not angry with me?"

"I couldn't be angry with you, dear," said John Aukland wearily. "I see you have finished your coffee. May I take you back to your room?"

"Yes, you are angry with me, John, but don't you understand that I have really never cared for anyone except my boy? I felt that his father had wronged me so terribly that I've never been able to forgive his memory, but Philip was a part of me. Our hearts are bound together and I cannot give him up even at the sacrifice of some of my own happiness."

"Then you do care for me a little?" said John Aukland as he helped her on with her cloak and bent down and looked into her eyes.

"Very much. But I shall never care as much for anyone as long as I live as I shall care for my son. He could ask of me no sacrifice I would not grant. If he had only known it—if he had stood out against me—I would have given in."

"Anne, Anne, you are impossible, but I expect I would not love you as much if you did not have this self-sacrificing as well as stubborn nature."

The taxi drew up in front of the Ritz. The major stepped out with great formality and took Anne Huntington Tracy to the elevator. There he bent over her hand and said "Goodby."

Before she could say anything in return, he had wheeled with military precision and walked away. In a kind of dream she allowed herself to be taken to her suite. Even then she would not permit herself to think. Instead she reassured herself. "I will see him in the morning," she said, as she turned out her light.

CHAPTER I.
GOODBY, SWEETHEART, GOODBY

PHILLIP WYNNE TRACY IV met Madam Pat just as she was going out of her apartment.

"You didn't expect me back so soon, did you, dear?" he asked with a smile.

Pat's face had been very sad, but at sight of Philip's famous smile she told herself she had been worrying for nothing; that everything would be all right.

"Wynne, darling, you do love me, don't you? When you left me this morning I was sure you didn't love me any more, but now that you have come back to tell me you do, I am sorry for doubting you."

She stopped. Her intuition told her that something was wrong.

"Where are you going, Pat, anywhere in particular? I have something very important to say to you. Let's go for a walk in the Bois."

Pat halted in the doorway, and instead of answering she searched his face. Then she fell into step with her lover.

As he walked beside her, Phillip Tracy looked at her carefully, not realizing that the moment a man begins to look at a woman critically, that moment you may be sure his passion has begun to cool.

She was not beautiful. She was distinguished, always exquisitely dressed, and she had the free carriage of an American girl instead of the French woman. Just now, however, she had lost much of her vivacity and verve. She sensed, before Phillip spoke, that the end had come.

She told herself that she had not thought that Philip could be so cruel as to come back to tell her they were to part this morning. For the thousandth time she asked herself why she had kept him at her apartment last night. She tried to excuse it by thinking that she had not wanted to send him back to the hotel when he had been drinking so much.

All at once she realized that he had not told her he loved her in answer to her fervent question, and the color dyed her face in great waves. She was ashamed. Slightly she pulled away from him and found that he was so preoccupied with his own thoughts that he did not notice.

The two walked along for quite a way in silence, and then Pat said timidly, "I know what you would say to me, dear, but please don't talk about it now. When you met me at the door, I was coming out here where I could think.

"Wynne, once I believed I was the happiest woman in the world, and now I know I am the most miserable. In my heart I have known for a long while that it could never be—that I could never be your wife, and because each day and each hour I realized it more and more, I think I became insane. That perhaps was the reason I asked you to come into my apartment last night. This morning when sanity came back to me I knew that I had lost you."

"Pat, Pat, why do you torment yourself? You are altogether mistaken. It would be foolish to try and tell you that my mother has not always objected to our marriage, but this afternoon when I got back to the hotel we came to a compromise.

"I am going home with her to America for two years. If then you want me, dear, I will come back to you."

"You won't come back. I shall always love you, but you won't come back."

An angry color flooded Phil's face. "Don't you believe me?" he asked.

"Yes, dear, I believe that you believe you will come now, but two years is an eternity to lovers, especially when the ocean divides them. Some Englishman has said that 'Absence makes the heart grow fonder,' but no Frenchman ever made such a declaration. He would know it was not true. Wynne, I know that you love me now, and I know that I love you, but how long we shall love each other, I cannot tell.

"Don't start away from me. I am not doubting you more than I am doubting myself. I cannot tell whether I shall love you next year or even next month. Dearest, it is better that neither of us should be fettered, and so I am going to say goodbye."

"But, Pat, you cannot turn me off like this, after what has been between us."

"It is because of what has been between us that I am giving you up. Until this morning I have been living in a beautiful dream. These past few months have been the happiest of my life. Today I know the dream can never come true. I am not sure that such dreams ever come true.

"My mother would never be reconciled to you as my husband—your mother would never be reconciled to me as your wife, and although families do not mean much when one is as passionately in love as I have been, they mean a good deal when people are married and have time to remember and regret."

"But I will not marry your family, Pat," Phil remonstrated, "and you will not marry mine. We will just marry each other."

"Yes, dear, we would both marry each other's family. A man and a woman may love each other singly, but when they marry they marry the whole of each other's family. Don't shake your head, Wynne, dear. Think back and you will see how many times the disgrace of one family has affected the other by marriage. I have been married, Wynne, and I know; besides, there is Cherie. I have to think of her.

"No, dear, we will never marry. It has been a beautiful interlude in my life and I will never forget it. Perhaps in time I will come to remember it even with joy.

"I am also egotistical enough, Wynne, dear, to think you will probably never forget me. Strange, isn't it, that two lives can be changed by their meeting, their short ecstasy and their parting?"

"Don't talk that way, Pat. It would break my heart if I thought we would be parted forever. I'm coming back to you, dear. I am, surely, and if you want me, I shall stay with you always."

Pat didn't say anything. Slowly she turned around and they walked back to the house. There they climbed the stairway that led to the second floor.

Do you know this trick?

Many a cooking problem can be triumphantly solved by this simple method.

Whenever a recipe calls for both milk and sugar, use Eagle Brand Sweetened Condensed Milk. Expert professional cooks enthusiastically recommend its use. They have found that Eagle Brand Milk gives finer results with less trouble and expense. It cuts down butter and eggs in desserts and hot breads. It makes a remarkably economical mayonnaise that thickens beautifully and won't separate. It is splendid for ice cream—cake icings, pie fillings—candies.

Now you'll want to know why Eagle Brand Milk does all this. Stop and think a moment just what this milk is. A delicious blend of pure, fresh, full-cream country milk and finest sugar. Super-rich! Why? Because most of the water has been removed, leaving the percentage of butter fat twice as high as in ordinary milk. (Bottled milk is 87% water.)

You'll find that Eagle Brand Milk is also super-smooth. That's because the sugar is blended in more perfectly than you could possibly do it at home. As a result, dishes made with Eagle Brand Milk show more perfect texture and consistency . . . Watch this space for delightful recipes. And write to the Borden Company, 350 Madison Ave., New York, for "Condensed Milk and its Uses in Good Cookery"—a complete recipe booklet.

Here's another hint for adding deliciousness and decreasing expense: Use Eagle Brand Sweetened Condensed Milk in your coffee! It creams and sugars, richly, perfectly, at one-half the cost of separate cream and sugar. And with Eagle Brand Milk there's never any waste from spoiling. It keeps pure and fresh and rich for days after the can is opened, even without ice . . . Get Eagle Brand Sweetened Condensed Milk at your grocer's today!

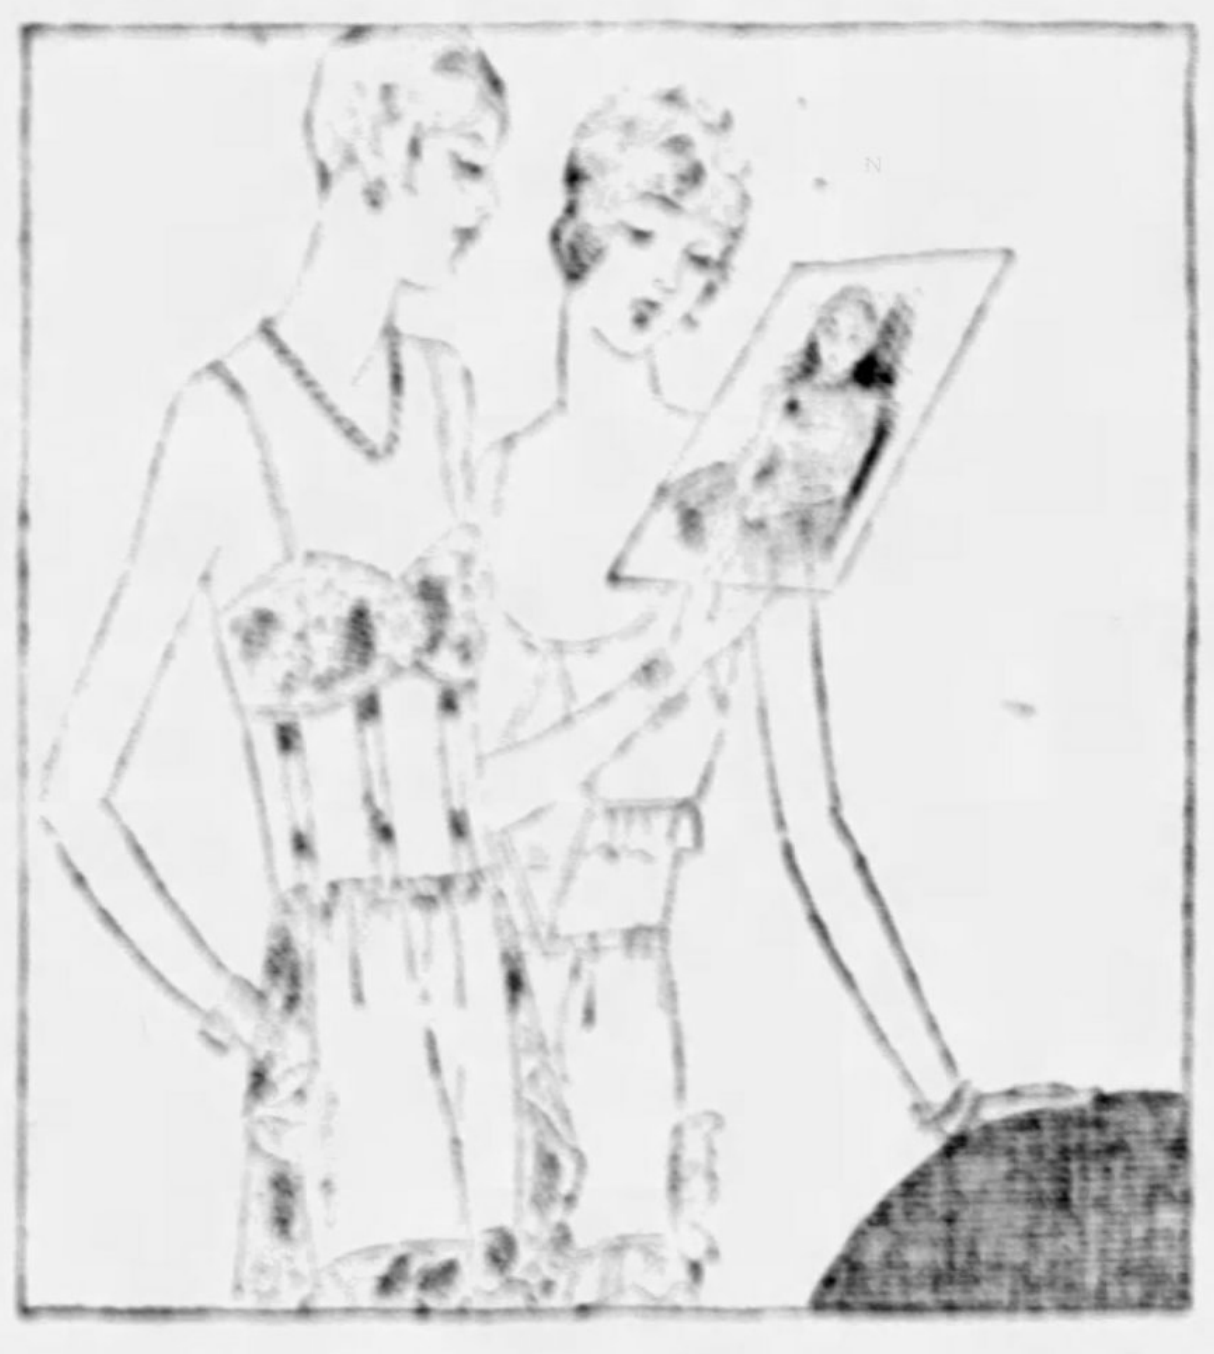
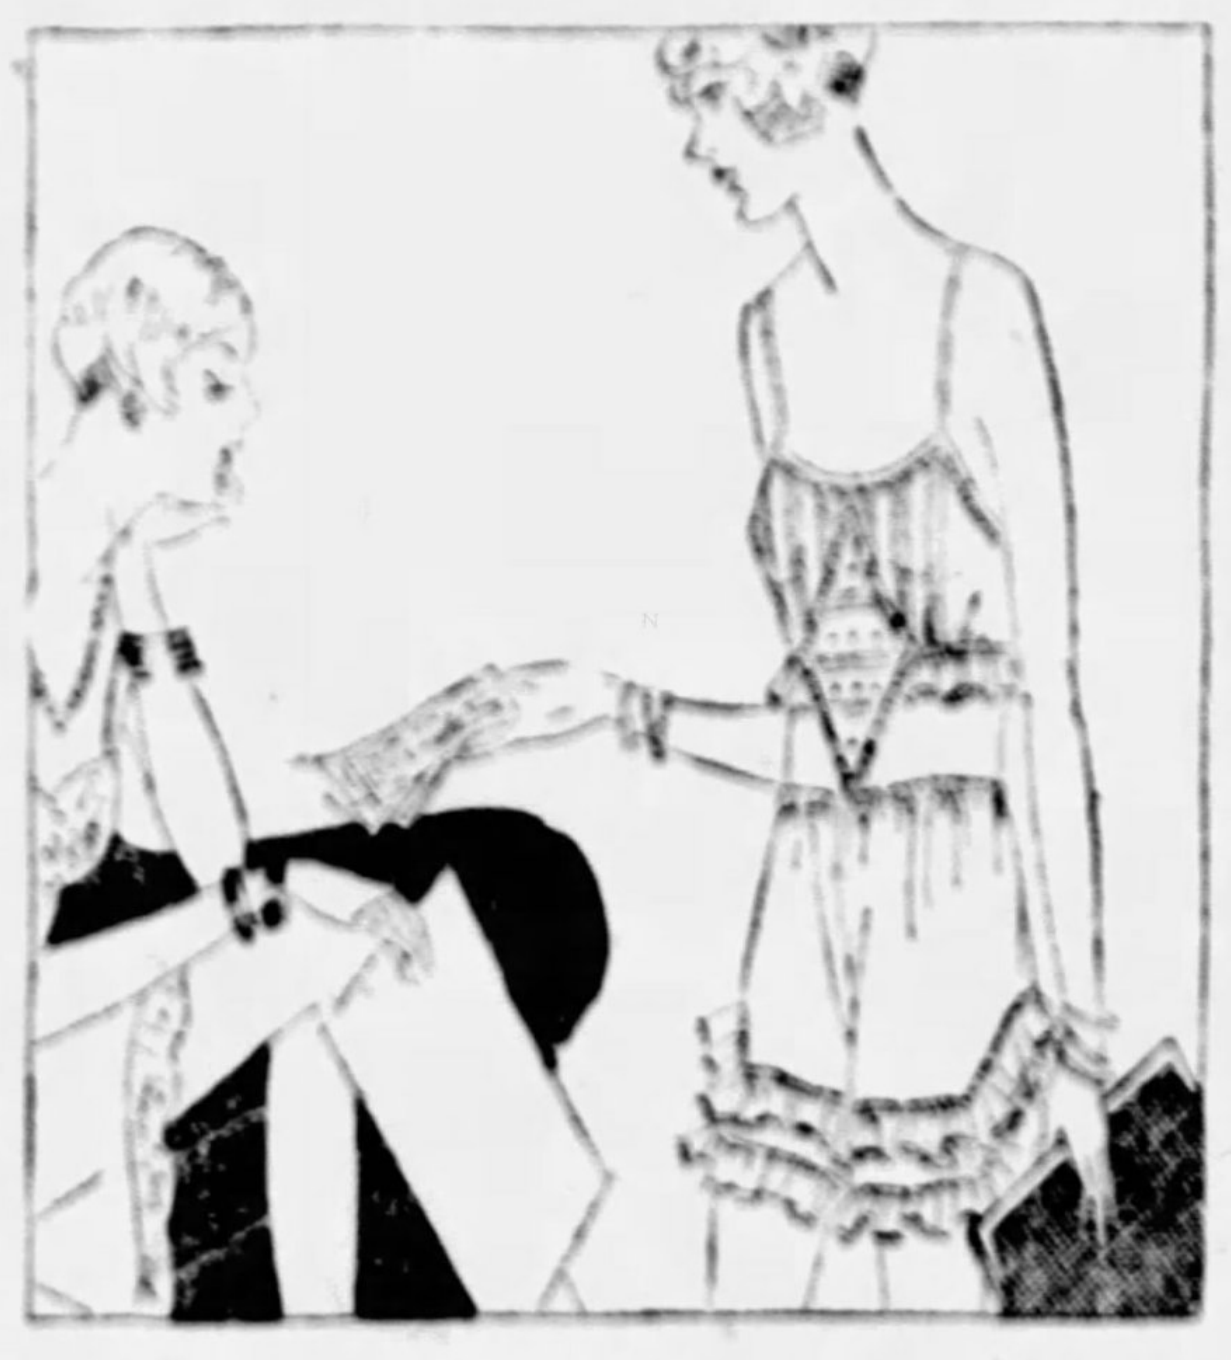
CHIC CHERIE

EVERY FAMILY HAS ONE

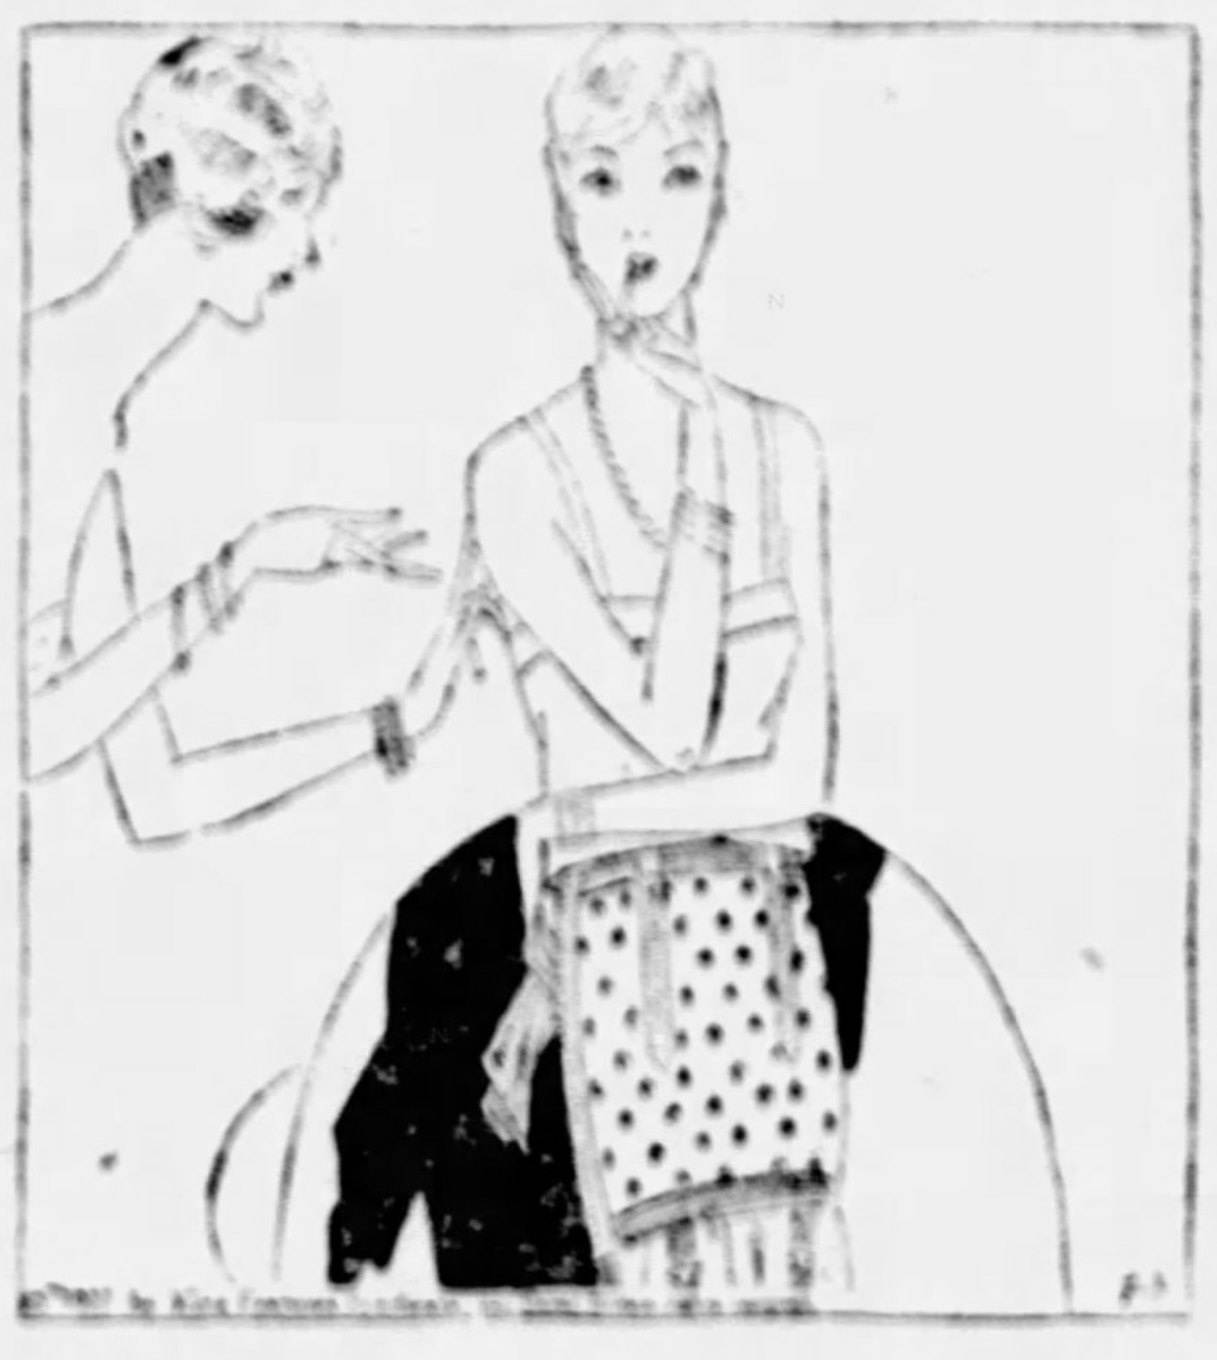
LATEST FASHIONS



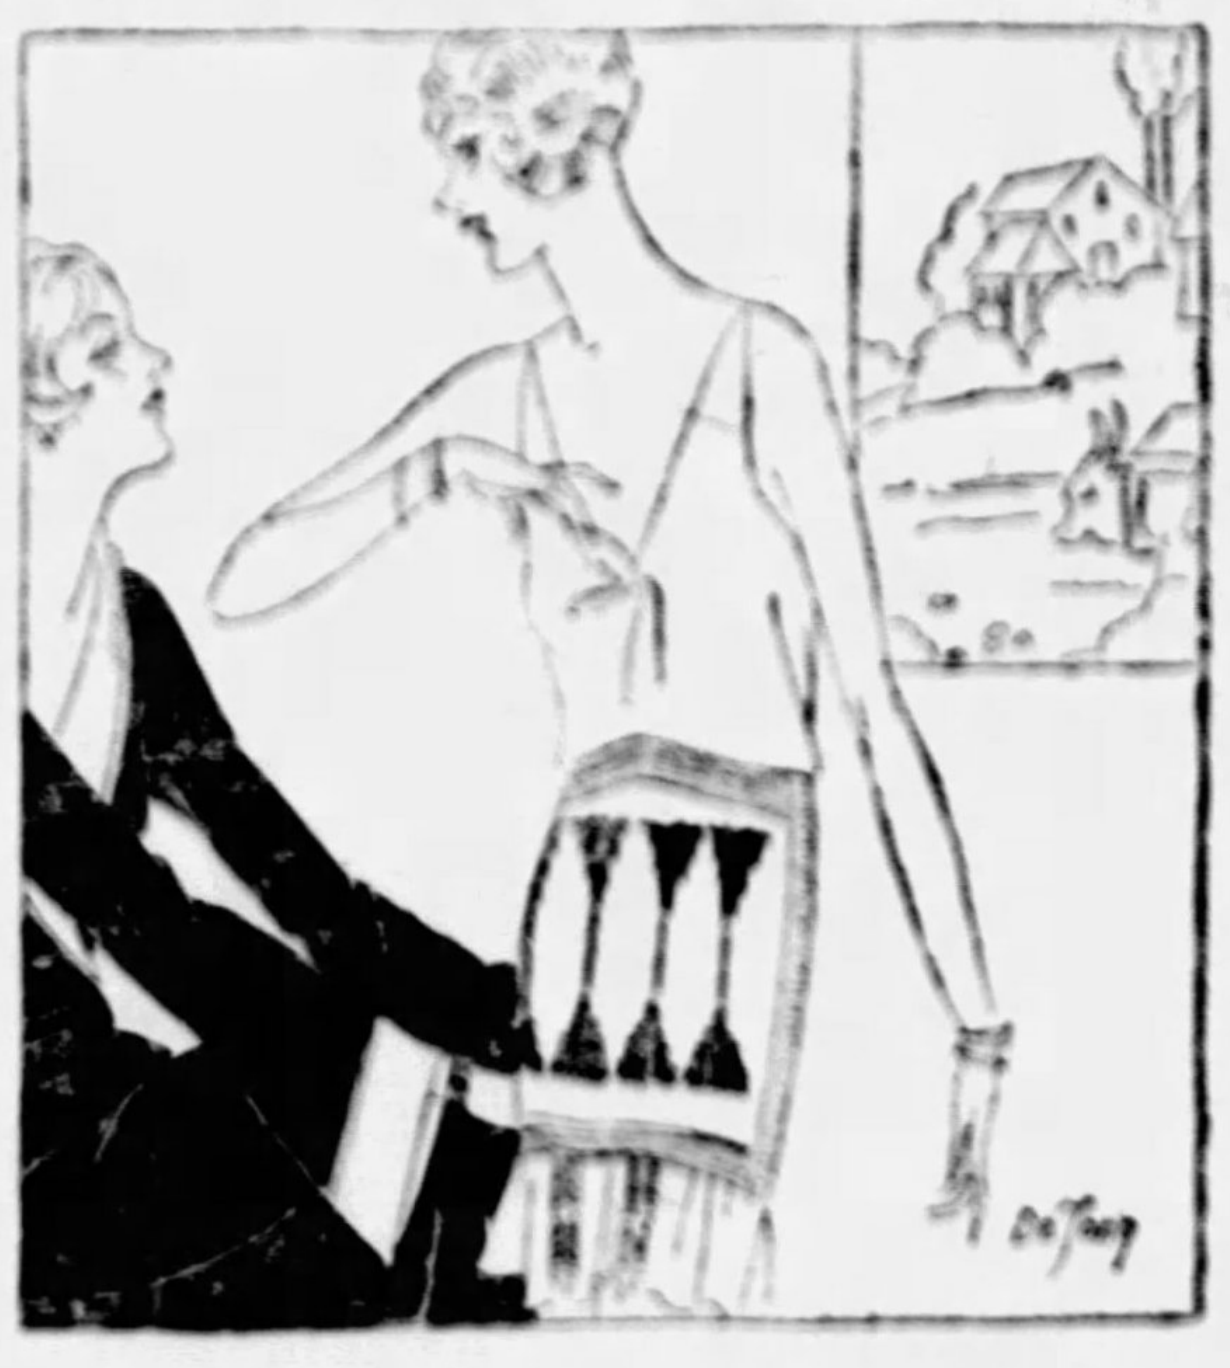
Is it possible that Cherie has discovered a fairy godmother? It's true. As Dina says, she looks a little weighty for a fairy godmother and it's possible she's really only Aunt Em, after all. The question needn't distract your attention from Cherie's ninon and lace set fastened together with ribbons.



There is something about having only $32.51 in the world that makes a kind and elderly relative wonderful to have. Dina explains this and in the meantime you may admire her bandeau set of peach colored ninon trimmed with ruffles and with brassiere and panties held together by ecru lace.



There is also something about having only $41.60 in the world that makes the old farm a haven for refuge. Cherie explains this as she dresses for dinner—which gives you a chance to see that a figured elastic girdle of apricot color is exactly the foundation for an evening gown this season.



Dina is saying that although she never lived on a farm she was end girl in a milkmaid's chorus in a show last year and that ought to help. This light girdle of tangerine elastic patterned in geometric designs would aid any such activity and Cherie decides to wire Aunt Em they're coming immediately.

Quicksands of Love

By ADELE GARRISON

A New Phase of Revelations of a Wife

SURREPTITIOUSLY I closely scrutinized my father's face as he, Hugh Grantland, Lee Chow and I discussed the delicious luncheon dishes which Katie had prepared on such short notice. To my relief and joy I saw that his features had lost the worn look, almost of illness, which had so worried me upon the occasion of his former visit. At that time, indeed, when he had given me the counsel concerning Dicky and Hugh Grantland which had so startled me, his voice and manner were those of a man bidding a loved one farewell, one whom he might never see again.

I had surmised that from out the mysterious past which was his, years whose history I never had fully shared, there had come a call which spelled menace for him, but which he could not ignore.

That he still was listening to that call, that the present conference with Hugh Grantland and Lee Chow pertained to it, I was certain. But I also was convinced by the look upon his face that he did not feel the same sense of fatality which I was sure had been his when he had bidden me goodby.

But that the matter was a serious one, the threads of which ran to other countries, perhaps even other continents, was patent from the grave, but eager welcome which Hugh Grantland and Lee Chow gave to him, a welcome which held in it the unmistakable relief of troubled men at the sight of a superior in office. As deftly and unobtrusively as I could I expedited the serving of the impromptu luncheon, and helping Katie in clearing it away left them to their cigars and their conference.

Fortunate indeed it was for me, that I had put in a strenuous week of research for Philip Veritzen and so had but comparatively little to do as I went to my desk in my own room, and placed it near the open door to the corridor, a position from which I could see and flag any one approaching the front room. For I found it impossible to focus my attention upon anything save that conference next door and the mystery surrounding it, a mystery enhanced by the fact that Hugh Grantland and Lee Chow had been compelled to meet my father in my apartment because they were free from espionage in their own.

So filled with anxiety for my father was I, that it was not until he came to my door and summoned me, that I realized I had completely forgotten a plan which had flashed upon me like an answer to a prayer when Katie had announced Hugh Grantland and Lee Chow. I had meant to ask their aid in tracing the movements of Mrs. Baker, the mysterious lodger from the fourth floor, establishing her identity and preventing any meeting between her and young Mary Harrison. It was a task I could not perform myself without sacrificing my work with Philip Veritzen. But I knew that it would be child's play to Lee Chow—unless my thoughts circled, dismayed, about the possibility that both Hugh and the Chinese might be called away by the same mysterious summons which my father appeared to be obeying.

It was with the fear of this in my mind that I met Hugh Grantland's hurried farewell with the flustered query—

"Are you and Lee Chow going out of the city?"

He looked at me with sudden keenness.

"No, not for a time. Why? Is there any way in which I can serve you?"

"Yes, there is," I said with sudden determination.

"I need your aid and advice sorely, not for any problem of my own, but for—can you come to see me some time next Friday?"

I had just remembered that Lillian's dinner to my father was scheduled for Friday evening and that my time before then would be filled with my work for Philip Veritzen and the attention I wished to give to my father.

Listening In on Eve

(Copyright by Associated Newspapers.)

WHOEVER said all men were created equal must have been thinking of noontime in the downtown district of a big city.

It is the time of day when bankers and bookkeepers democratically bump trays and elbows. The atmosphere of one big cafeteria I know especially well is class-dissolving as well as fragrant. There used to be a certain sociable, round person who ruled the steamtable section with a generous hand and a nice, big spoon.

The round person's name is Sue. Sue broke in all the new help, taught them the finger movements in landing a mashed potato serving in the middle of a plate, the simplicity in bringing a yard of spaghetti safely to port, and the tact necessary in soothing uncertain appetites and temperaments.

"Looka there, honey," Sue would whisper to the newest girl, the newest girl being little, uncertain and blue-eyed. That's why Sue called her honey. Anybody would; countless had.

"See that bit of a fellow coming this way. Looks sort of nervous and perky about his victuals. Never believe it, but he's Sam'ls, the millionaire real estate man over on the avenue. Sam'ls must have just put over a big deal. That means he's going to eat good today. Afternoon, Mr. Sam'ls." Sue would smile over the June-peas-in-cream-sauce. "Special chicken a la king today, Mr. Sam'ls; special vegetable combination?" Mr. Samuels, made happy, moved on and made room for the next customer.

"What'd tell you honey? Never can tell a tree by its bark. Who'd have ever thought a bit of a fellow like that would be eating so much? But it's the little fellows every time who eat the most. Like small boys, they still think they have a chance to grow some more.

"Now watch this tall gent. You'd feel sure a big appetite ought to go with the big man. Afternoon, Mr. Johnson. Roast beef, no? Chop suey, no? Lamb, pork, no? Just some bread and gravy. Imagine that, honey," running a casual white towel around the edge of the stewed tomato crucible, "imagine such a butterfly appetite for such a big man. Oh, you'll learn.

"Watch this, watch this, honey," gently indicating a tight-lipped man with a too-neat tray. "That's Mr. Ross, the bird who keeps some kind of budget on his meals. Never spends more than 40 cents every day. Got 30 cents' worth already there; won't stop at the vegetable today. What'd I tell you, honey? Imagine thinking about food in terms of nickels and dimes at lunch times. Oh, you'll learn, honey.

"Notice this old lady with the lacey business at the throat. She's a social adviser or something over in a big store. Frail-like and lavendery with a skin like pink roses, she's the sort of a person you'd think should lunch on English breakfast tea and a currant cookie. But just look at her tray, salad, rolls, roast beef, baked potatoes, dressing, cream puff, cake sundae. Afternoon, Miss Agatha. Tomato sauce? Carrots? Peas? Looka that, now, honey. Who'd'a thought, her so gentle and frail looking with a meal for a coal shoveler.

"Here's a queer one, this lady in the blue sailor hat, counting numbers to herself. Don't let her scare you. She's just one of them people who went and took a course in dietetics once, and so has forgotten how to enjoy life. She's counting calories. Does it with everything; writes it down in that little book so's she won't run over her daily quota. She's so skinny, you'd wonder why she was so afraid. Seems to me the wrong folks take this dietetics courses. There's a fat Miss Hopkins now. Comes in every day; starts off with the bran cookie and buttermilk. Runs back in a minute for just one little cream puff. Eats that and decides there's always room for one or two more, that the reducing experts have the wrong ideas and that a business woman needs strength, anyway. Oh, you'll learn, honey.

"Here's the college boy. Did you ever see anybody so nearsighted and thin and boney? That comes from too much brains and books. Looks like he needs a milk cure out in Colorado. But, instead of that, the college boy's gone and got it into his head he's going to revolutionize the football industry next season for his college. But he's going about it in the same way they'd raise a circus fat man for the sideshows, or a mess of pigs for market. He eats too much. Double portion of everything. That boy'll die young from dyspepsia, but never from football.

"Now, here's a poor boob, that old fellow with the magnifying glass. He got poisoned once at a banquet or something. Then some one told him he could detect arsenic in food with a lens if he looked hard enough. That's why it takes him two hours to get his lunch. Examines every pea before he puts it into his mouth. Tough life.

"Some folks look at their meals through magnifying glasses, some in terms of nickles and dimes, and some use calories for a standard. But me, now," thoughtfully laying aside a thick slice of roast beef for herself, "me, I always look at my meals through rose-colored glasses."

Reducing Your Weight

By Dr. Theodore Beck

SCIENCE recognizes truly the extreme embarrassment, the constant annoyance and the real danger of becoming too fleshy. Particularly is the condition most pitiable during hot weather. If, therefore, this condition can be overcome, as it unquestionably can in a vast number of cases, I am truly glad to point the way.

It appears to be an established fact that obesity is often due to a partial failure of the thyroid gland to secrete and disperse through the blood an iodine gland substance which nature intended as a regulator of the fat absorption from the food consumed. Science, through myriads of experiments, discovered that the simple administration of the desiccated thyroid gland substance supplies to a degree nature's need for the control of fatty accumulation.

For many years I have recommended Arbolone tablets, as a reliable, non-secret home remedy, as it contains one grain of thyroid gland, with other approved ingredients, that have a tendency to aid in reducing the superfluous fatty tissues and to regulate the perverted craving for wrong foods. Taken as per directions, I have never known them to be harmful; on the contrary, many have gratefully written the facts of their success. Leading pharmacies dispense Arbolone Tablets.

Registered Nurse Reduced With Arbolone

"I have benefited after using for about three months when all other prescriptions did me no good at all. Arbolone certainly has done for me and another member of my family what nothing else could do though I had tried for years, etc." (Signed) N. Mc St. C——, R. N., New York City.

Reduced 15 Pounds First Month

CLEVELAND, OHIO, Mrs. L. V— — Detroit Ave., Suite 4, writes: "I have been taking Arbolone so far, for one month and lost 15 pounds. I feel better and know I look much better, too. Thanking you, etc."

Used Arbolone Successfully

RENOVA, PA., Mrs. H. A. F—, — Erie Ave., writes: "I took the Arbolone tablets and must say they have done me a lot of good. I weighed 180 pounds. After taking a few days I did not have that stuffy feeling so I kept on and now I weigh 160 pounds. Thanks to you for the good they have done. I am telling my over-stout friends, because I know they have never done me any harm. Thanking you again, etc."

Arbolone tablets are sold by May's and all good druggists everywhere.—Advertisement.

For the Lovelorn

By ELEANOR GALE

Fluffy.

DEAR MISS GALE:

I am a girl 17 years old. I have many friends, both boys and girls. Now I don't imagine myself in love (for what do girls my age know of love?) but I think a lot of one of my boy friends. He has come to see me at my home and has taken me out, and always has been a perfect gentleman. My mother and father both say his manners, his speech, etc., are perfect, although they object to him and insist on my stopping our friendship because his mother is not married. He travels in the road company of our small town and he is [illegible] by his mother's sin. So do you think I should stop our friendship because of this? I can't understand why any person should [illegible] when he is admitted into the other families and the best. Miss Gale, please advise me what to do because I enjoy his company although not any more than some of my other friends. Hoping to see an answer in the Tele soon, I remain, sincerely,
FLUFFY.

It surely does seem a shame that this boy should be made to suffer for his mother's misdeeds, but you will find that feeling very general. It is unjust, of course. But you are too young to go against your parents' wishes, [illegible]

Anxious.

DEAR MISS GALE:

I am a young girl in my teens and [illegible] in love with a man in the thirties. However, he does not seem to take the [illegible]

What can I do to win him?
ANXIOUS.

If this man is not interested in you, you must realize how futile your wish is, my dear. Certainly you do not want to humiliate yourself by pursuing someone who doesn't ask for or appreciate your friendship. Make up your mind to forget this man or else you will be unhappy.

Lonesome.

DEAR MISS GALE:

I am a girl in my teens and am in love with a young man. He has left town and I haven't seen him for some time. Should I try to find where he is?
LONESOME.

It isn't your place to look for this friend, Lonesome. If he is interested in you and wants to continue your friendship, he will write you. But if you try to get in touch with him first, he will think you are running after him—and this is the best way to lose him.

Boots.

DEAR MISS GALE:

Both my sister and I are in our teens. We have just moved into a new neighborhood. Two boys seem as though they would like to speak, yet they do not. Shall we answer them, or wait until introduced by our friends?
BOOTS.

There is no need for you to address these boys without an introduction. If they are anxious enough to meet you, they will make an effort to find mutual friends to introduce you. That is the more dignified way.

Broken-Hearted.

DEAR MISS GALE:

I am a girl of 16. I have been going with some young men, but my parents object to this. Please give me your advice.
BROKEN HEARTED.

You must make your parents understand that you cannot get along without recreation of some kind, my dear. And there is no reason why you should not accept the invitations of young men who are worthy of your friendship. Ask your mother and father to give you their permission to invite some of your friends over some evening. They can judge whether or not the young men and women you like are the proper associates for you—and you can be guided by their advice.

Lovesick Girl.

DEAR MISS GALE:

Can a girl have dates when she is 15 even though her parents object? I have many boy friends who want dates.
LOVESICK GIRL.

I must urge you to act in accordance with your parents' wishes. Remember that they are thinking of your good and have faith in their judgment. Besides there is nothing to be gained by embarking upon a road of deceit. They would be sure to find out sometime and would never have faith in you again.

Wondering Jen.

DEAR MISS GALE:

I have been going out with a young man whose mother objects to me. My mother does not object to him. We have been going together for five months.

His sister and I were good friends until she found out that her brother was coming to see me. I have quarreled on several occasions with his mother. Her objections to me are due to the talk of gossips. I tried to disprove the lies. The people responsible for them, denied saying them. Please advise me what to do. Shall I speak with him, or try to win his mother's affections?
WONDERING JEN.

Instead of quarreling, have you tried to win her affection by being nice to her? Prove yourself worthy of her son's friendship and I am sure it will end her disapproval. If you have courage and self-control, why not have a frank talk with her? Tell her that it is unfair to condemn you without giving you a chance to defend yourself. Ask her to give you time in which to disprove the stories that have been circulated about you, that you wish nothing more than her confidence and approval. If you make an appeal of this sort and make sure that you don't lose your temper, I feel certain that she will listen to you with more respect than you have inspired thus far.

PRUNES are the ideal summer sweets for children, for while they contain more than 60 per cent energy-giving and body-building food (more than six times the amount contained in most fruits) they are easy to assimilate, tonic, and there are a host of delightful ways to serve them to appeal to lazy summer appetites. Halitosis easy to prevent

Nothing retards you in business, courtship and society like a real case of halitosis (unpleasant breath). It is a continual offense—and needless, too.

Since you, yourself, can never tell when you have halitosis, the only way to be sure of not offending is to rinse the mouth with Listerine every day—especially before any close personal contact.

80 streetcar conductors, meeting the public at close range every day of the year, said that about one person out of three offends by halitosis. Who should know better than they?

"BETTY"

By FAITH BALDWIN

The Fascinating Love Story of a Girl of the Present Day

Bob Meets Lorrimer for the First Time and Forms a Dislike for Him

Betty made an impatient gesture—

"I don't know yet. Do hurry."

"Is he alone with Bob?" persisted Virginia.

"Of course."

Virginia chuckled a little. The situation appealed to her slightly mordant sense of humor.

Eventually Betty succeeded in marshalling the family downstairs. There weren't chairs enough, but Bob brought some from the dining room and had the pleasure of seeing Lorrimer make himself perfectly at home on the couch, with Mrs Warren on one side and Betty on the other.

The reactions of Betty's family toward Betty's new friend were curiously different.

Gladys, wrapped in her own concerns, and thinking longingly of her quiet room and her beloved work, hardly looked at him except to decide that his face didn't appeal to her as a subject. She apparently held no other opinion of him at all one way or another.

Helen glowered from the arms of Virginia's chair where she was perched. She had taken an instant dislike to Lorrimer. Perhaps the dinner jacket did it—perhaps his suave and easy manner. At all events Helen was so very well trained in the psychology of the cinema that she felt she knew a villain when she saw one. Felt, too, that Dinner Jackets and Rolls Royces coming calling on the Poor Working Girls could be up to no good.

And she was right.

Besides, she could read Bob's sullen and expressive face and she sympathised with him. She liked him. He was her confidential and good friend. Had she been older she would have fallen in love with him, she had often told Betty.

To Mrs Warren, Lorrimer appeared "nice." Very nice. She was so vague about everything and anything that that was as far as she got. A personable, pleasant young man. A gentleman. And as to his friendship for Betty, why shouldn't he be friendly? Her Betty was worthy of anyone's attention.

Virginia, who with Lorrimer, conducted most of the conversation was thrilled and elated. It seemed obvious to her that Lorrimer was seriously interested in her sister, a conclusion devoutly to be hoped for, something that she, Virginia, had almost prayed for . . . . if he were not intrigued by Betty then why had he come over?

And Lorrimer was enjoying himself very much. He found the united family worthy of his attention, conceded to himself that one day the impertinent youngest sister would be the family beauty. He thought Gladys rather colorless. Mrs Warren a nonentity and admired Virginia's somber, haggard latter beauty.

The presence of silent and glumly glowering Bob was a great incentive to his entertainment.

Casually, Lorrimer threw out remarks—in the general conversation—which gave the rest to understand on what good terms he and Betty were. He even made carefully calculated references to their luncheon hours together and reproached her, laughingly, for not giving him more of her time now.

Gladys didn't listen. Mrs. Warren took the facts in without giving them any thought, Helen was alert and annoyed and Virginia more elated than ever.

Little sly boots—she thought.

What Bob thought was not fit for print.

After rather less than an hour Lorrimer arose.

"Now to business," he said cheerfully, "and then I must be getting on—"

Bob breathed again and Virginia's face fell. Was it only business, after all, that had Rolls Royced the man to their door?

"I have spoken to Mr. Weston," continued Lorrimer to Betty in that confidential manner of his which so irritated two people in the room, "and he has asked me if you would care to come up there tomorrow. You could go at 12 and he will be there." He drew an envelope from his pocket and gave it to her. "Here is the letter of introduction—not that you need it—really. At all events I think it would be worth your while to try. I couldn't give you the letter by 'phone and I can't stop in the office tomorrow as I will be going out of town overnight," he lied, serenely.

Does illness keep you from your work?

A GIRL who earns her living—whether in store, office, factory or home—realizes the necessity of regular attendance at her place of employment. For this reason she works on day after day. When she becomes tired out and run-down, she feels that she must keep at her work without taking time to rest.

Thousands of girls have found that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored them to a normal physical condition, and has made them fit for work. These two women testify to that fact:

HEALTHY AND STRONG

Silverton, Oregon:—"I am writing to tell you how much your medicine has helped me. I was doing cannery work, canning, sealing, etc., but had to quit work when sick as I would be so weak I could hardly walk across the room. A friend of mine told me of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have found relief when sick and it helps me more each time. Every one says I am a healthier and stronger girl. I am recommending the Vegetable Compound to all my friends." Julia Schmidt, 113 Willow St., Silverton, Oregon.

Remember this package. None genuine without the signature of Lydia E. Pinkham.

LOOK AS YOUNG

Fruitdale, South Dakota:—"I felt badly. It seemed like my back broke all to pieces and I couldn't stoop down to get anything from the floor. Then a friend told me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. So I did, and it sure has helped me. I can work all day long and I feel so good. I am 38 years old and I look just as young as if I were 20. I am glad to answer letters from any one about this medicine because it has done me good." Mrs. Francis F. Fajardo, Box 31, Fruitdale, South Dakota.

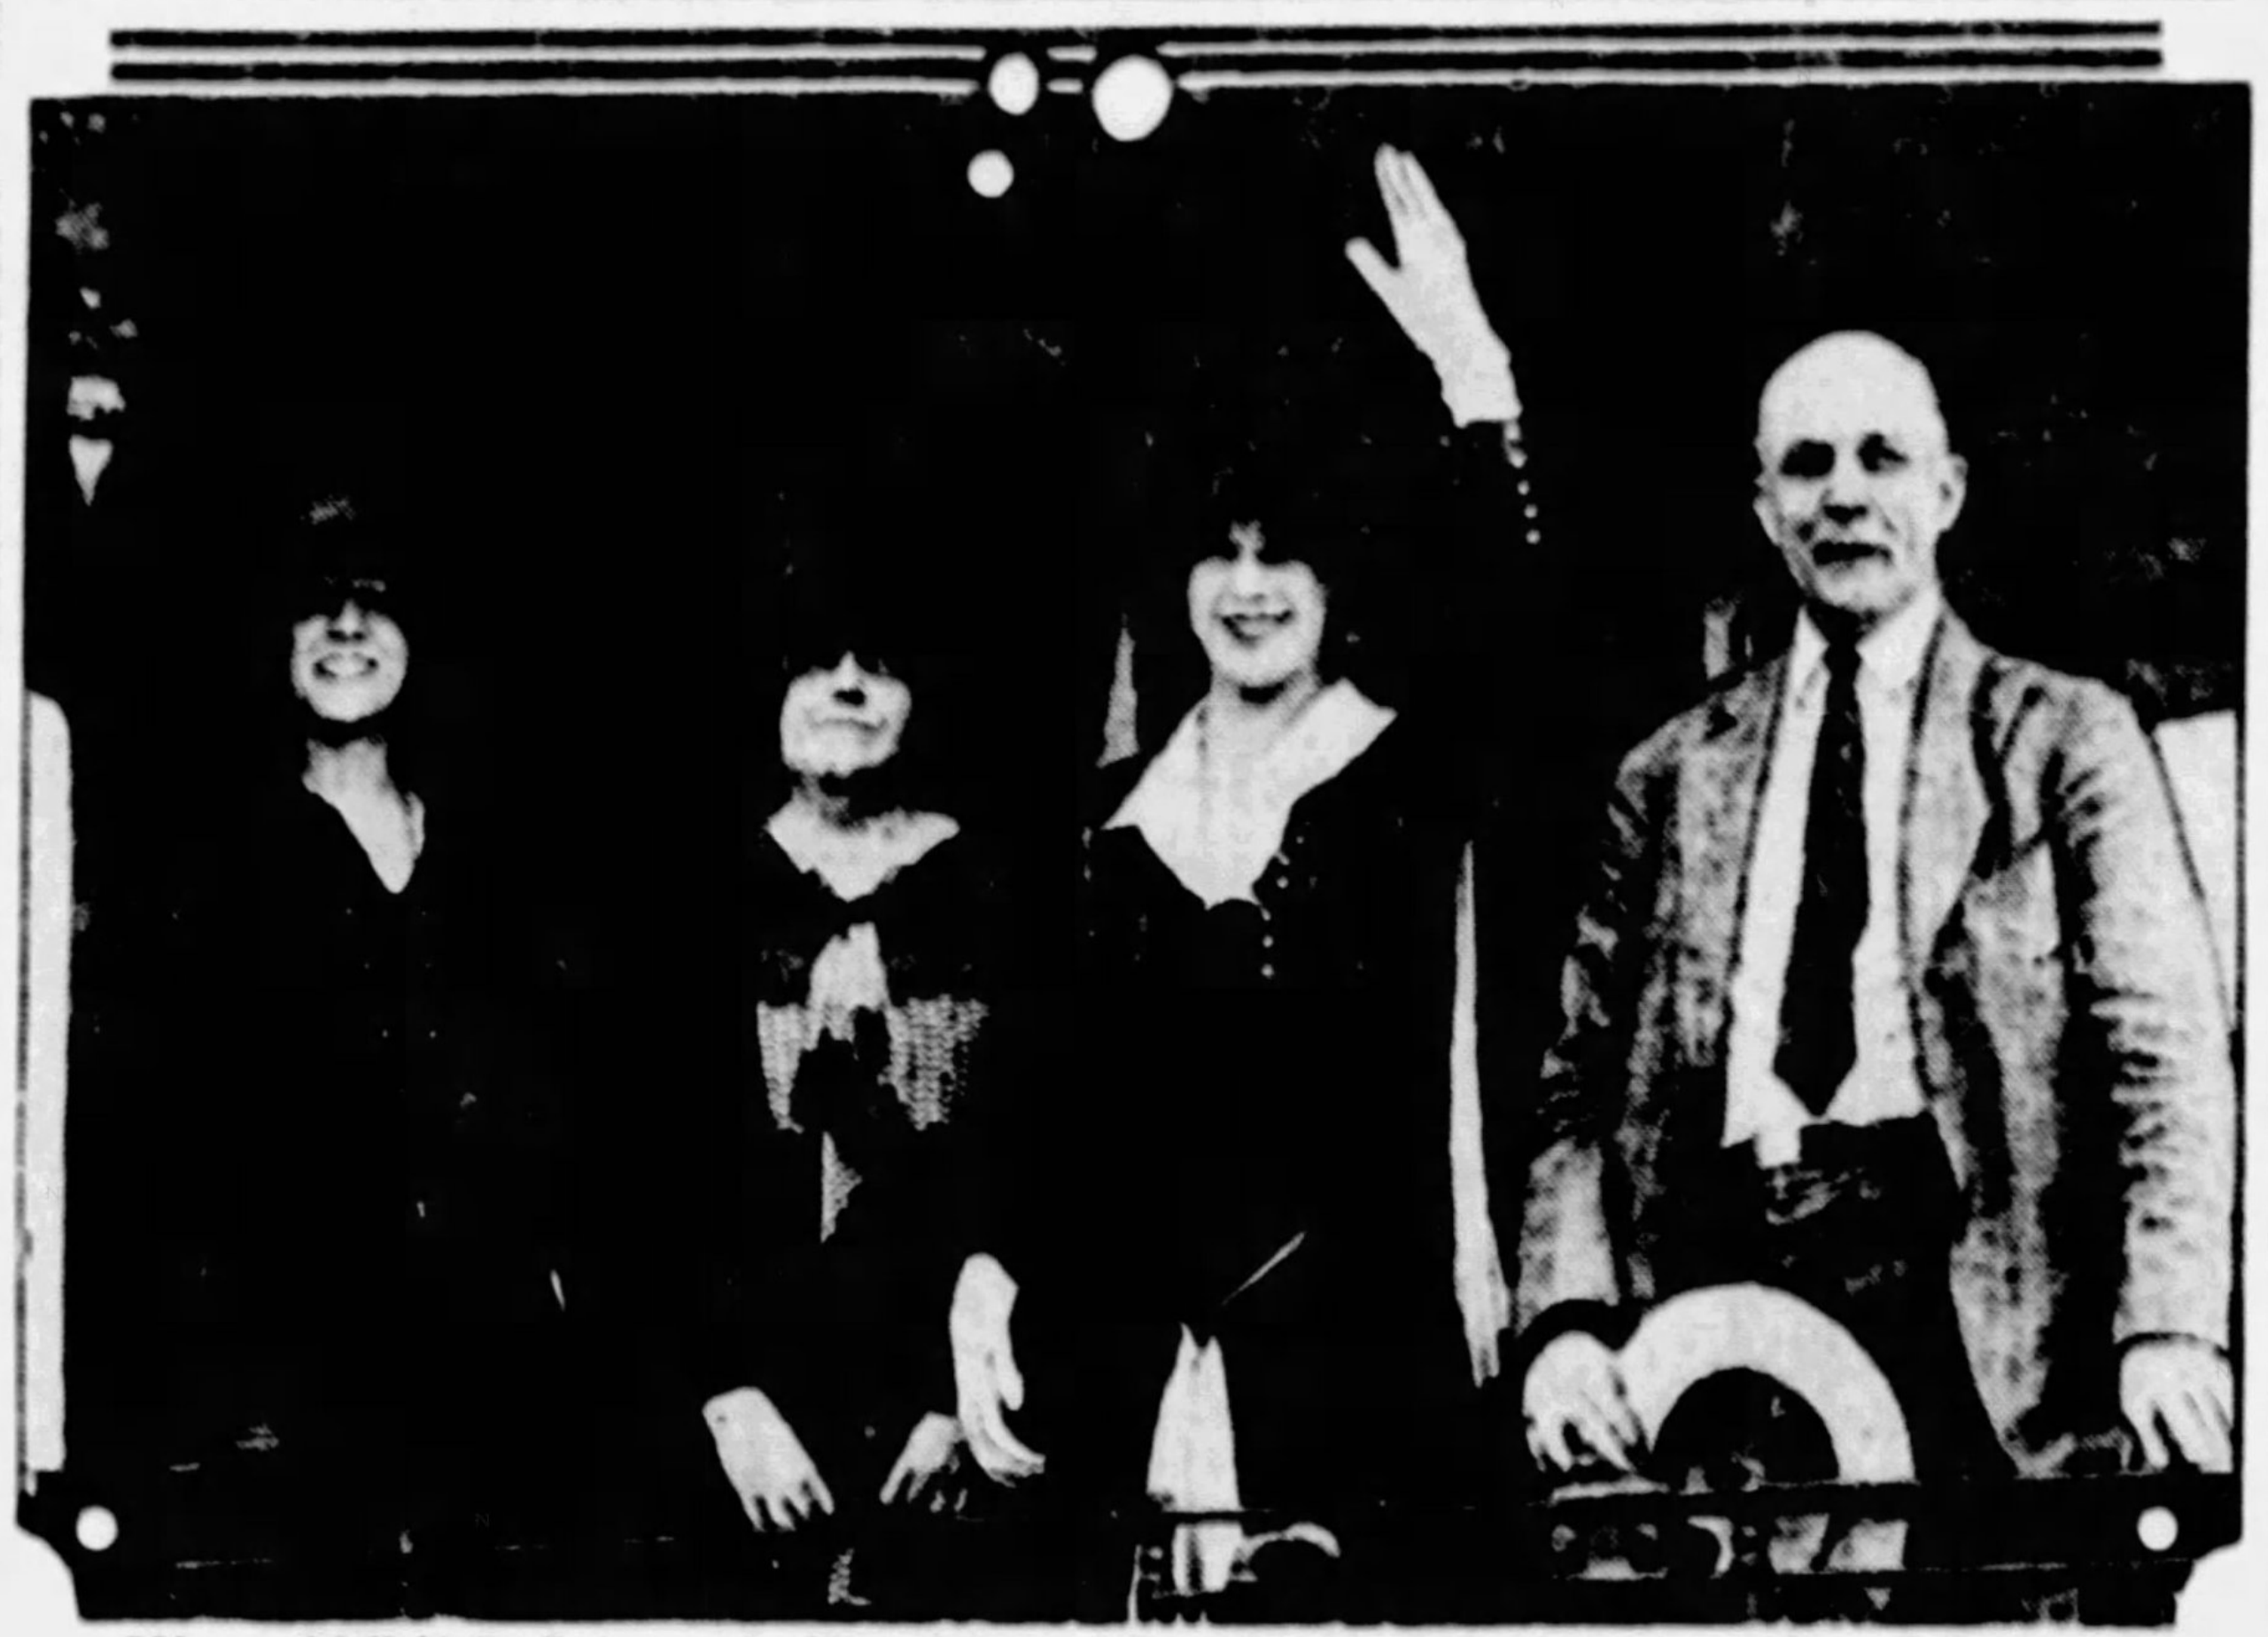
FASHION QUEEN GIVEN SENDOFF



Miss Alfhild Larsen, 19, Pittsburgh's "Queen of Fashion," left Pittsburgh last night for St. Louis to compete for the national title and $1,000. With her were (left to right) Miss Alma Sioux Scarberry, feature writer of The Sun-Telegraph, Mrs. Howard B. Kester, Miss Larsen and Howard B. Kester, manager of the East Liberty Cameraphone Theater, where the local fashion queen contest was conducted.

FASHION QUEEN IN ST. LOUIS

By ALFHILD LARSON,
Pittsburgh's Queen of Fashion.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 3.—Well, here we are in "Lindy's" town. If he likes my town today as well as I like his town, we both are sitting on top of the world. This is the happiest day of my life. Miss St. Louis and a committee greeted us at the train when we arrived, then we posed for pictures and talked to reporters.

All I have ever heard about the people out in the breezy west being sociable is true. They almost make me feel as though I have been here all my life.

It is too bad Miss St. Louis cannot enter the contest herself, and that she must just play hostess. For she is a beautiful girl, and so sweet and charming.

HER LONGEST TRAIN RIDE

Steubenville, O., is the farthest I ever had been from home before today. I didn't even know what a passenger train drawing room looked like. It was elegant.

Mother and several friends saw me off and sat with us awhile before the train pulled out of Pittsburgh. We ate our dinner in the diner and everybody smiled at us and seemed to know who we were.

Of course Mamma shed a few tears and begged me to be a good girl and come home safe. If I come home with the title of National Queen of Fashion I shall be so happy perhaps I'll shed a few tears myself. That thousand dollars would certainly warm my little old heart. But I would rather win it for the sake of my home city than for myself.

From the bottom of my heart I thank every one responsible for my being sent out here to represent Pittsburgh. I'll do my best.

This is just a little note—and I am too excited to write much. We are at the Forest Park Hotel, "dolling" up and getting ready for the real excitement to start.

Peel Years Off Aging Faces

Any woman can now look less than her age. Modern science has achieved in ordinary mercolized wax a medium which accomplishes the seemingly impossible. Just as a withering rose is made fresh and young looking by peeling off the faded outer petals, so the face will regain its youthful beauty, when the dead cuticle or scarf skin is removed, and the new underskin bursts forth. The wax actually peels off the aged surface skin, gently, harmlessly, but surely. Get an ounce at your drug or beauty store, use as directed—and watch the years peel off. Mercolized wax brings out the hidden beauty.—(Advertisement.)

LEGIONNAIRES GATHERING AT YORK

(International News Service Wire)

YORK, Aug. 3.—By road and by rail, thousands of members and guests of the American Legion in Pennsylvania poured into York today, a colorful invading peace-time army of revelers, to be on hand tomorrow for the opening of the ninth annual conclave of the department of Pennsylvania.

York was gay with color, the legion banners and the American flag floating from every store and home. Except for a few rooms in the larger hotels, reserved for the accommodation of transients, every available lodging accommodation in the city has been reserved for legionnaires.

Chief among subjects being discussed in the scores of impromptu conclaves and reunions is the impending fight for the office of state commander.

Legion's Paris Meet Insured Against Human Loss

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Existence of an insurance policy protecting the American Legion Paris convention against anything short of a universal cataclysm was revealed today.

A policy for $175,000 has been issued by Lloyd's Insurance Syndicate of London agreeing to pay in full any losses sustained due to marine perils, severance of diplomatic relations between the United States and any other country and France and any other country, a financial panic in the United States, also war perils and strikes.

Compulsory insurance also has been arranged at a low rate against accident, sickness or death for those making the trip.

CAROL'S FRIENDS BACK HIS BID FOR THRONE

"BETTY" By FAITH BALDWIN

The Fascinating Love Story of a Girl of the Present Day

Bob Meets Lorrimer for the First Time and Forms a Dislike for Him

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Pretty black-haired Betty Warren goes on a pleasure trip with some friends, including Bob Stevenson. Betty lives with her mother and two sisters in Brooklyn and works as a typist in New York City. The girl and the young man leave before the others so that they can enjoy each other's company on the trip home from Coney Island. As the next day is a Sunday the whole Warren family assembles for dinner. Helen, the 16-year-old beauty of the family; Gladys, the artistic dreamer; Mrs. Warren, motherly and impractical, and finally, Betty's married sister, Virginia, with her little boy, Junior, and her husband, Jim, who was gassed in the war. Virginia is despondent about her husband's health. Betty is acquainted with a wealthy author, Amson Lorrimer, and Virginia urges her to try and attract him. The next day Lorrimer visits Betty's office with some typing he wants her to do. Betty is oblivious of his admiration. Bob asks Betty to marry him, and she accepts. Betty's brother-in-law becomes so ill that he must be sent to a western hospital. To Betty it means an indefinite postponement of her marriage to Bob. Betty and Bob have a trivial argument. Bob is very angry when he leaves her home. Lorrimer invites Betty out to lunch and she accepts. He offers to get her a better job. To add to her happiness, when she reaches home she finds Bob waiting for her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

WESTON, a really unsuspicious creature at heart and himself a very honorable man, nodded. Lorrimer's manner was very easy and quite disarming and anyway, he, Weston, had merely thrown out the suggestion of Lorrimer's interest as a casual joke.

A few days later he called Lorrimer up.

"One of our typists is leaving—family going to trek out to California. Send your girl up," he said, "and we'll see what we can do."

That night Lorrimer, with a whimsical smile at his own eagerness, got into his car after breaking three engagements, and rode out to South Brooklyn without notifying Betty beforehand. He rather wished to take her unawares . . . he felt he could find out something about the situation in that little house and about its inhabitants if he did so.

He was right.

Bob was there. They still walked warily these days, careful not to bring up all problems, all the old food for quarrels and unhappiness. Each was a little bruised still, and each remembered his or her particular and peculiar unhappiness at the time when they were separated.

They were alone in the living room when the great car purred insolently up to the door and stopped. Bob looked up:

"Who's that?"

"I can't imagine—some of the girls, perhaps, out for a ride and stopping by."

"Not with that engine," said Bob, his mechanic's ears atuned to the sound of various motors.

The bell rang.

Betty went to the door. Bob, in the living room which was separated from the vestibule only by the shallow sun porch, heard a man's deep, resonant voice and Betty's exclamation:

"Why, Mr. Lorrimer!"

From where he was sitting Bob could not see Lorrimer. But he could hear him well enough and he frowned angrily.

Lorrimer? Oh, the chap that Betty had spoken of—whose novel she had typed.

Possibly, thought Bob, Lorrimer had come with some extra work or something of the sort.

As the two came toward him, Bob heard Lorrimer say in the tones of an old friend:

"I would like very much to meet your mother—and sisters. I didn't have the opportunity that other night, you know."

That other night? Was the fellow in the habit of swanking over to Brooklyn in his imported car? Bob scowled more blackly than ever.

At that moment Betty came in with Lorrimer. She looked as she felt—startled—and slightly embarrassed. Her color was heightened and her eyes darker by contrast. Bob, who knew every expression of her lovely, mobile little face read her correctly. It was all right for her to be startled, but why the embarrassment—and he felt, the badly hidden excitement.

And the damned fellow was fairly good looking, thought Bob grudgingly, although he wouldn't stand up to much sheer physical labor.

I'd like to have him in the garage a while, grumbled Bob to himself—to see how he likes getting his face and hands dirty!

Lorrimer was presented, rather ceremoniously. He had noticed with a vast inner amusement the strange young man's obvious annoyance.

And noticed, too, the rather pretty way in which Betty stumbled over the introductions—

"—my—my friend—Mr. Stevenson."

Lorrimer shed his overcoat with a smiling ease which infuriated Bob and disclosed himself as wearing extremely well cut and well fitting dinner clothes.

Betty, with a murmured excuse, left the men together and went upstairs to call her family. Mrs. Warren was sewing. Gladys was poring over some unfinished sketches of the nursery school children and Virginia, who had managed to get Junior to bed early for once was writing a letter to Jim in her mother's room.

"Won't you all come down?" asked Betty. "Mr. Lorrimer is calling."

Helen appeared in the open door.

"Me too?" she asked.

"Of course."

Mrs. Warren sighed vaguely and began scattering her sewing materials about the room which Betty picked up mechanically and patiently.

"Call Gladys, Helen."

Helen danced off and they could hear her having a mild altercation with her sister, who disliked to be dragged from her pencils and paper when genius burned.

"Oh, leave all that—you won't have a chance to meet such a swell again. He owns the Ritz, you know," urged Helen.

Virginia was on her feet, her eyes rather brighter than usual. "But why did he come?"

LINDY'S FIELD .:. NOT EVEN IMMUNE .:. FROM INVASION

MLLE. ADRIENNE BOLLAND
RUTH LAW

In the not distant future, Col. Charles Lindbergh who is Pittsburgh's own for the day, may be robbed of some of his present glory, women say. These women who have already done a "hitch" at aviation promise even greater things in days to come. Mlle. Bolland, famous French aviatrix, has to her credit the record of being the first woman to fly across the Andes Mountains and the English Channel. Miss Law who quit flying in 1921 and until Lindbergh's feat was in the Paris-New York competition, has the record of having made the first non-stop flight between New York and Chicago in 1916.

FULLER DECIDES SACCO'S FATE TONIGHT

BOSTON, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Life or death hung in a wavering balance for Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti today.

While sympathizers of the Stoughton shoe worker and Plymouth fish peddlers prepared themselves against the announcement that is to come from the executive chambers sometime after 8 o'clock tonight, Gov. Alvan T. Fuller was putting the finishing touches to his momentous decision.

The two radicals whose seven-year battle for life, presumably is drawing near an end awoke today to their first morning in the death-house cells to which they were transferred late last night.

With them, in a third cell, was Celestino Madeiros, convicted of another murder, and like them sentenced to die in the electric chair sometime during the week of August 10. It was Madeiros, whose confession, exonerating Sacco and Vanzetti from complicity in the South Braintree murders, formed the basis of their final and latest unsuccessful appeal for a new trial.

CAROL'S FRIENDS BACK BID FOR THRONE

LONDON, Aug. 3.—Former Crown Prince Carol, Rumania's bad boy, will yet become King of Rumania.

This is indicated in a special dispatch from Bucharest last night from the Bucharest correspondent of the Daily Express.

The iron censorship has hitherto created the impression that Carol was merely a pretender to the throne, without the substantial support of his countrymen. The Daily Express' correspondent states . adherents of the exiled prince are determined to break, within a few months, the power of the Bratianu family—hereditary dictators of Rumania—and make Carol king.

Eighty-six thousand telegrams addressed to Carol by prominent Rumanians have been received at the Ministry of the Interior at Bucharest, but have not been forwarded to Prince Carol.

Strips to Escape Bar of Justice, Prisoner Gets Denims

Regard for public modesty failed to save Frank Gumi, 17, of 1617 Colwell street, from a Police Court hearing this morning, contrary to his hopes.

Musing over night in the county jail, Frank decided he wouldn't be taken to court clad in nothing. So he tore his clothing into shreds. Attaches who went to his cell found him clothed only in the gray light of dawn.

Warden John McNeil found a pair of overalls and Frank reached the fount of justice arrayed in blue denim.

ANTI-DRYS RAP RADICAL WET ACCUSATION

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—A demand upon Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Lowman to be more specific when he denounced "radical wets" was made by the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment in a statement issued today.

"Assistant Secretary Lowman is to be congratulated upon his declaration of independence from the Anti-Saloon League, but he ought to be more specific when he talks about 'radical wets'," said the association.

Lowman upon assuming the office of chief of the prohibition forces declared:

"Our greatest job is to hold down the activities of the radical wets and the radical drys.

"By radical wets I refer to those individuals who are unwilling to accept the Constitution of the United States and the mandates of Congress and who advocate ignoring and nullifying the prohibition law."

MAIL CENSORED BY KING BEN, GIRL SAYS

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., Aug. 3.—(AP.)—A mail censorship imposed on House of David members was described at the state's dissolution suit against the colony by Miss Pearl Flake, 18, a member.

Asked what procedure she would follow in writing to a girl friend, the witness replied that she would write letter and leave it at the colony ce, unsealed. Asked why it would eft unsealed, she replied "so that could see what I write."

On cross examination Miss Flake declared that a number of girl members of the colony who were married in a group ceremony in 1922, went through no period of courtship.

Mrs. Anna Mote Connon, a stenographer, who followed Miss Flake on the witness stand, asserted, however, that her marriage to William Connon, a colony member, resulted from a courtship not engineered by the colony, and denied that immorality existed at the colony.

LAWYERS WALK OUT ON LITA

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Lita Gray Chaplin today switched lawyers in her fight for a divorce and a part of the fortune of her husband, Charlie Chaplin, film comedian.

Lyndol L. Young, William K. Young and Milton Young, who were associated with Mrs. Chaplin's uncle, Edwin T. McMurray, San Francisco attorneys, as counsel for the comedian's wife, announced they had withdrawn from the case.

"Differences in the matter or policy and procedure have caused us to withdraw," Lyndol L. Young said.

JAZZ MAESTRO OFFERS AID

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Jazz has come to the rescue of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra.

Paul Ash, reputedly one of the country's highest paid jazz maestros, has offered to donate $10,000 to help meet the wage increase demanded by musicians of the orchestra. Directors of the Symphony Orchestra Society recently announced that the orchestra, after having won world fame under the batons of Theodore Thomas and Frederick Stock, would be disbanded because union salary demands were regarded as unreasonable.

TWO KILLED IN EXPLOSION ON MISSISSIPPI TOWBOAT

VICKSBURG, Miss., Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Search was begun today for the bodies of two men missing from the barges of the towboat Sprague, which exploded and burned at Salem Landing, 35 miles north of here yesterday. Two men were killed and two others seriously injured in the blast. The injured men were brought here on the steamer Gulfport, which stood by after the explosion.

GIANT CONVICT CAUGHT

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Samuel Deeds, 31, Cabell county giant, who escaped from the state prison here March 22 with Albert Matheny by scaling a wall, was returned to the penitentiary yesterday following his capture in Indiana.

COURT-MARTIAL ASKED AGAINST 'STUNT' FLYER

(By Universal Service).

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Lieut. Thomas B. Williamson, naval pilot, will face a general court-martial for engaging in "stunt flying" over a residential section of the city about a week ago, Secretary of the Navy Wilbur has announced.

This is believed to be the first time on record that a service flyer has been charged with "reckless driving" in an airplane.

Williamson probably will be accused before the court-martial of violating a civil regulation by flying at an altitude below 2,000 feet over the city. He may also be charged with violating naval orders by going out of his course to do stunt flying when he was supposed to be enroute from here to Hampton Roads.

The court-martial was recommended by a court of inquiry.

HURRICANE DAMAGES CANARY ISLANDS TOWN

LAS PALMAS, Canary Islands, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Much damage has been done to the town of Tirajana by a hurricane that swept over the region yesterday. Roofs were torn away, trees uprooted and vehicles overturned by the force of the gale. In some places plantations were destroyed and almond, olive and corn crops suffered severely. Fearing the collapse of their homes, the inhabitants of the region took refuge in a church.

LOST OVERBOARD IN CHINA

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Hubert Early Wilson, a fireman who enlisted from Marshfield, Ore., was lost overboard from the gunboat Asheville in Chinese waters, the Navy Department was advised today.

EX-GOVERNOR RECOVERING

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 3.—(A. P.)—John Cornwell, former Governor of West Virginia, was reported recovering at a hospital here, following an operation for kidney trouble. His physician said the patient had rested well, and that complete recovery was expected.

CAR TRACKS REMOVED.

FRANKLIN, Pa., Aug. 3. Two days' work of removing street car rails from Franklin's business district ended at noon today. The rails were removed to the Franklin steel works and bricks replaced the tracks.

ROAD WORKER KILLED.

WEST UNION, W. Va., Aug. 3.—(AP.)—When he grabbed a live wire dangling from a pole as he and relatives were walking in the center of town, Roy Gains, 27, a road worker of Parkersburg, was instantly killed.

POLITICAL UNION OF SOUTH AND WEST URGED

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Aug. 3.—(AP.)—An agricultural and political alliance between the South and West as a solution of the farmers' difficulties was advocated before the Institute of Politics by Dr. Charles A. Beard, economist. He said:

"Personally, I hope the new confederation may be effected. It would be good for the country and give politics a refreshing tone, even if it made the veterans of 1896 take to their tents in consternation."

Discussing the McNary-Haughen farm relief bill, he said the measure "might not improve the lot of the farmer, but might help as much as wearing cowboy breeches and fishing with worms in Western waters."

While not passing judgment on the McNary-Haughen bill, he said "most of the arguments against it seem to me to apply also to the devices of capitalism."

CLAIMS 1927 HARD LUCK PRIZE VIEWING ECLIPSE

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—Prof. H. T. Stetson of Harvard returned from Europe with a claim for the 1927 hard luck prize. He traveled 8,000 miles to get a glimpse of the last eclipse of the sun in Norway but a large, single cloud completely blocked his view.

Lindbergh Always Interested in Experiments

Lindy's flight alone from New York to Paris was not the first thing he did that was new. One of his innovations was campaigning for his father in an airplane in 1922, when Lindbergh, senior, was a candidate for governor of Minnesota.

The "colonel" always had a flair for experimenting in mechanics. One of his interests was an ice boat run by a motorcycle geared to an airplane propeller, in which he sailed over the frozen surface of Lake Mendota in 1922.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—The resignation of James E. Power as postmaster at San Francisco, effective August 24, was received today at the Post Office Department where officials said no action would be taken until the return of Postmaster General New from his vacation about August 16. 60 MEXICAN SOLDIERS DIE FIGHTING REBELS

NOGALES, Ariz., Aug. 3.—A dispatch to the Nogales Herald from Mazatlan, Sinaloa, yesterday reported sixty Federal soldiers killed and many wounded in fighting last week in the State of Jalisco. The Federals under Gen. Jaime Carillo were said to have repulsed 300 rebels.

BOB COST RISES IN PHILA.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—The Master Barbers' Association today announced an increase in the price of shaves and haircuts in Philadelphia shops. Shaves were raised from 20 to 25 cents and haircuts from 40 to 50 cents. Prices for women's hair bobbing also will be increased, but the amount was not stated.

The step was taken, John Di Silvia, president of the local union, said, to prevent a strike of journeymen barbers who demanded an advance in wages from $25 to $32.50 a week. About 2,500 of the 3,300 barber shops in the city are members of the Master Barbers' Association.

FOES IN WAR ARE NOW PALS

Ten years ago in the war-infested area of Western Europe, two veterans, separated by No Man's Land were turning machine guns against each other.

Today they face each other across a desk, both engaged in the friendly business of a telephone manufacturing works, the chief product of which goes far toward linking the world together in peace.

Such is the dramatic story of H. Ratcliffe, one-time of the Canadian army, and of W. Sligman, one time German machine gunner. As a part of a Canadian machine gun company, Ratcliffe was pitted against Sligman and others of a German unit for the possession of Passchendaele, Moorslede and other towns in that sea of mud mendaciously indicated as dry land by the map-makers and labeled "Belgium."

Not long ago as they were seated across from each other in one of the office rooms of the Hawthorne works of the Western Electric Company in Chicago, they fell into a discussion of those memorable days.

"What branch of service were you in?" asked Ratcliffe. "I was a machine gunner in the German infantry," Sligman answered. "What battles were you in?" Sligman started to enumerate them. "Well, I was at Passchendaele." "At Passchendaele," interrupted Radcliffe. "So was I."

They soon realized how dangerous they had been to each other in that Belgium battle. For it developed that each had stayed by his gun in such a manner as to receive special recognition for their bravery.

Sligman, before coming to this country, was a tool designer at Krupp's Essen works. Ratcliffe went to Chicago from Winnipeg.

NEURASTHENICS VANISHING

BERLIN, Aug. 06.—Homer Saint-Gaudens, director of fine arts at Carnegie Institute of Pittsburgh, finds that the neurasthenic in German art has practically disappeared.

Satin-Gaudens is touring Europe to select pictures by prominent artists to be exhibited at Pittsburgh, beginning October 14. In Berlin a luncheon was given in his honor by the cultural division of the foreign office.

"Immediately after the war," Saint-Gaudens said, "Germany, like many other countries, produced a number of neurasthenic in art, whose productions were of a decidedly freakish nature. I find that now, after stable conditions have been established in the republic, the neurasthenics are rapidly disappearing. There is much earnest, sincere endeavor by well-balanced artists.

"German present-day art differs from French or Spanish in that apparently greater emphasis is laid upon the manner of execution. In Spain and France, matter is supreme, manner secondary."

Unpardonable

Perspiration need never offend others

[if you use this purifying toilet soap]

A STIFF GAME of golf or tennis—warm sunshine. Naturally, he perspires—but he need not offend.

There's no excuse for the unpleasant odor of perspiration now. It can be avoided—easily!

Just change to Lifebuoy—a toilet soap so refreshing that millions bathe with it daily. It keeps you free from embarrassing odor—even in hottest weather or after vigorous exercise.

Complexions stay healthy

Lifebuoy's mild antiseptic lather not only purifies body pores—it purifies face pores, too, keeping complexions clear, fresh and glowing with health.

Better still, this same purifying lather helps protect against disease—by removing germs from hands, as well as dirt. Yet it's so gentle and soothing to the skin that men, women and children, everywhere, use it always—for face, hands and bath.

Note its clean, hygienic scent

Lifebuoy is so different from other toilet and bath soaps that even its scent is different. Not a perfume, but a clean, pleasantly hygienic scent which tells you that Lifebuoy gives greater protection.

Even before you've finished your first cake, you'll be enthusiastic over this cleanest of all soap scents, which quickly evaporates after rinsing.

Without its antiseptic, Lifebuoy would still be a wonderful toilet soap—but you wouldn't get the same measure of protection.

Extra protection—no extra cost

Lifebuoy assures greater health protection and lasting freedom from perspiration odor—yet costs no more, probably less, than the toilet soap you now use. Lifebuoy is orange-red, a big generous cake. Get some today wherever soap is sold.

HILL LOST TO PIRATES INDEFINITELY

Through the Sport Lens

by Havey Boyle

IT WAS no surprise that Tex Rickard selected Chicago as the site for the next championship bout between Tunney and Dempsey. Excepting the lone possibility of incurring the wrath of certain powers in New York, everything in the book pointed to Chicago's advantages.

Chicago, never having experienced the delirium attendant upon a big affair of this kind, certainly was more eager for it than the East, accustomed to these spectacular events.

Rickard went to Chicago because he felt that the Mid-west would enthuse more over the battle than the East. Some efforts were made to threaten him that if he neglected New York he might expect reprisals, but Rickard has become so big in his peculiar field that he is now beyond reprisals.

The threatening note sounded in the East against Rickard's moving to Chicago already is turning to plausible reasons why Rickard was forced to select Chicago this time.

A PECULIAR twist is that Chicago never has been a great fight town. Jim Mullens, a Windy City promoter, who blossomed forth as soon as boxing in Illinois was legalized, has never enjoyed great financial success, although he staged several championship affairs. But Chicago's lethargy over minor battles is no index to what Chicago will do when given a heavyweight championship bout. This sort of bout attracts thousands who ordinarily do not attend lesser boxing shows.

BY an arrangement with Mr. Getz, a Chicago millionaire, Rickard will be allowed to promote in Chicago, although the Illinois boxing law prohibits non-residents from promoting. But Mr. Getz will be the nominal promoter, qualifying as a resident of the state, and Rickard will do all the promoting.

Perhaps the solons of Illinois had in mind, when they barred non-residents, to keep Rickard from going into their state, but with the business, advertisement and prestige enjoyed by New York and Philadelphia through Rickard's bouts sentiment along these lines has changed. Instead of being barred, Rickard was actually entreated and implored to go to Chicago.

RICKARD, of course, in going to Chicago had nothing against New York or Philadelphia, but he did feel that these cities might be only normally excited over the championship bout while knowing Chicago will be abnormally excited. In this surmise he is undoubtedly correct.

In telling me about a month ago he would promote the Tunney-Dempsey bout in Chicago, Rickard said: "You know, these big heavyweight fights are only little different from circuses. You can't stay in the one place too long. You have to keep moving about. I'll be back in Philadelphia in a couple of years. By that time they will be just as eager as Chicago is now."

PITTSBURGH, which sends large delegations to affairs of this kind, is warming up. A pioneer came in yesterday to ask how this department could buy him an $11 ticket. He was told he will have no trouble getting a ticket of this kind. The cheaper seats are always available to the man who sends in his certified check. The rub comes in trying to get ringside seats. Although the top price for the Chicago bout will be $40 there will be a bigger rush for them than for any of the less expensive tickets.

PITTSBURGH'S most prominent boxing supporter, Harry Neuman, already is hot-footing around trying to line up sufficient reservations. Harry expends much time in trying to purchase tickets for his friends. It would not surprise those who know him to learn he has ordered a block of 50 or more.

PRESENT plans call for both the large railroads here, the Pennsylvania and the Baltimore and Ohio, to operate special trains to the big bout. A plan is on foot to arrange for a fight ticket, for hotel accommodations and for Pullman space for those who want to make the trip in a Pittsburgh party.

It is probable that 500 Pittsburghers will try to make reservations of this kind.

INTEREST in the heavyweights is once again exemplified in the present hysteria over the return meeting between Dempsey and Tunney. Their last bout was hardly exciting; furthermore, there are only a few who have much doubt as to what is going to happen in Chicago (the great majority figuring Tunney as a sure winner) and yet in spite of these considerations the greatest crowd paying the largest gate in history will be on hand when Tunney climbs through the ropes to take on Dempsey.

A large part of this may be attributed to the advertising given the bout by the newspapers. Rickard could write a very intelligent essay on how advertising pays.

SCRANTON BASEBALL CLUB TAKEN OVER BY C. OF C.

SCRANTON, Pa., Aug. 3—(AP.)—The Scranton baseball club of the New York-Pennsylvania League, in financial distress because of slim attendance at home games, yesterday passed from the hands of Charles A. Davids, Newark, N. J., into control of the "Minute Men" of the Scranton Chamber of Commerce. John H. Farrell, president of the league, and his son, P. B. Farrell, secretary, were here and went over the affairs of the miners.

WILLIAMS MAY RETIRE AS DAVIS CUP PLAYER

SEABRIGHT, N. J., Aug. 3—(INS.)—Substitution of the doubles team of Francis T. Hunter and William T. Tilden, in place of the combination of Tilden and Richard Norris Williams II in the entry list of the invitation tournament in progress here, was interpreted today to mean that Williams will not be a member of the Davis Cup doubles team, which will represent the United States in the international tennis matches next month.

Williams has been a leading player since 1913, when he reached the final round of the national singles championship. Both he and Tilden are left court players, however, and Tilden and Hunter make a better doubles combination.

UZCUDUN PLANS SUIT AGAINST PROMOTER

NEW YORK, Aug. 3—(INS.)—While Paulino Uzcudun, Spanish heavyweight, is training in Summit, N. J., for his 15-round bout with Jack Delaney, his lawyers are starting suit against Promoter Humbert Fugazy. Paulino claims he received only $342 for knocking out Harry Wills. The promoter explained that he had to pay $5,000 to a Boston promoter for Paulino's release from a contract calling for the basque to fight Ed Kelly, Boston heavyweight. Fugazy also says he paid several bills for the Spaniard and asserts that Paulino has received every cent that is due him.

THREE FRENCH DAVIS CUP STARS REACH N. Y.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3—(AP.)—Relying on their "hopes" and aware that they face "very stiff opposition," three of France's tennis aces arrived today on the liner Paris in quest of the Davis Cup, international team trophy, now held by the United States. Rene LaCoste, present holder of the American singles title, and Henri Cochet, Wimbledon champion, both of whom conquered Big Bil Tilden in Europe this season, were accompanied by Jacques Brugnon, doubles star. The fourth "musketeer," Jean Borotra, will come later.

TOMMY MEETS BENNY BASS IN PHILLY BATTLE

Tommy Crowley, local featherweight boxing champion, boxes for the state championship in the main bout of 10 rounds of a show in Philadelphia tonight. His opponent will be Benny Bass of Philadelphia, who recently was recognized as the state titleholder following his victory over Mickey Doyle at Scranton after Doyle had knocked out Carl Tremaine.

This bout is the most important Crowley ever has fought and his local followers are intensely interested in the result. A victory or even a draw with Bass would place the little South Sider in the big money class of the featherweight division.

Harry Fay, of Charleroi, light-heavyweight, has been matched to box George Gemas, of Philadelphia, in one of the 10-round preliminaries to the Jimmy Maloney-George Godfrey bout at the American League park in Philadelphia, August 15.

Marty O'Hare, former bantamweight boxer of Homestead, is in the West Penn Hospital suffering from an injury to his spine and shoulders which has caused the doctors to put his neck in a cast. He hopes to box again after his recovery.

New Fads Introduced By Tilden, Lott At Seabright

SEABRIGHT, N. J., Aug. 3—(AP.)—Peculiarities of tennis attire, perhaps destined to rank with the famous eyeshade of Helen Wills, have made their appearance on the Seabright tournament courts.

Most revolutionary was the innovation of Big Bill Tilden, who removed his shoes and played in stocking feet to have surer footing on a rain-wet court.

Another novelty was a blue beret affected by George Lott, the sensational young Chicago player. Seeing Lott start play in the foreign-looking bonnet half the gallery thought he was one of the members of the French Davis cup team.

YOUTH—THE LEADER

By HARRY KECK, Sports Editor

THE folks of western Pennsylvania are paying tribute to Col. Charles Lindbergh in person today, in recognition of his epochal flying feat.

The feat was one of youth, the fruit of youthful dash and fire, youthful enthusiasm, youthful exuberance of spirit. Or the Spirit of St. Louis, if you will.

Youth dashes blithely in where age fears to tread. That is why it overcomes the most stubborn obstacles and gives the achievement scarcely a second thought.

A case in point is that of Rogers Hornsby, the young acting-manager of the New York Giants. The Giants, under the veteran manager, John McGraw, got off to a staggering start this season, the very season in which the veteran hoped to make a good showing because it was his silver jubilee anniversary. There seemed to be no bolstering the club, no pulling together of the loose strings. McGraw finally gave up his "master-minding" and left the club in charge of Hornsby, the young man who had won the first pennant and world's series for the St. Louis Cardinals last year. Hornsby was to be the pilot while McGraw went about combing the bushes in search of new talent in the emergency.

Suddenly a startling change came over the club. Over night it took on a winning stride, and now it is up there near the top, threatening to come through in spite of its early-season reverses.

What is the answer?

Youth. The dashing youth of Hornsby, which is infectious. The same youthful, conquering spirit that dominated the Senators under young Bucky Harris after veteran managers had tried in vain for years to give Washington a winning club. Youth that takes chances. Youth that demands that the game be played right up to the handle. Youth that blazes away aggressively instead of playing safe and waiting for a "break." Youth—the greatest natural quality of leadership in any strenuous undertaking.

Youth that recks not the cost as it plays out every string with one goal in sight—and that TO WIN.

Youth—Lindbergh and Hornsby—youth. They are synonymous.

BILL SLUMPS, KAUFFMANN CHANCES UP IN GOLF PLAY

By VERNON A. SWARTSFAGER, Staff Correspondent.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 3.—The Pittsburgh chances in the annual national public links golf tournament appeared bright today when Carmen Bill, of Cleveland, scored a 78 in the second and final 36-hole round of the qualifying test. Bill's play today was far from poor, but it was poor in comparison to the brilliant 73 he shot yesterday to share the lead with Carl Kauffmann, of Pittsburgh, and Clarke Morse, of St. Louis.

Bill completed his round shortly after noon, before Kauffmann had started. His 151 total for 7 holes indicates that the Steel City ace can slump considerably and still make off with the coveted medal.

At that, Bill's 78 was the best tally turned in by the early finishers. His closest rival of the morning was Lawrence Wood, of Detroit, who scored 79. His 83 of yesterday, however, left him with 162 and out of the medal reckoning.

Ivan Crooks, the only Pittsburgh entrant to finish by noon, added a mediocre 86 to his 82 of yesterday for a total of 168. His chances of qualifying are considered slim.

The Homestead Grays will play their hundredth game of the season at Cycler Park, McKeesport, this evening, when they go against the Beaver Falls Elks.

LA BARBA TO QUIT WITH TITLE

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Fidel La Barba will not defend his flyweight title again before retiring to enter Leland Stanford University.

This was the announcement last night of the champion's manager, George V. Blake, who declared the fighter was hurrying to wind up his business affairs by September 1 and was taking his entrance examinations.

"I do not feel that it would be fair for the university, to the boy to ask him to take on the additional worries of shedding weight to defend his title," Blake said.

SPECIALIST GIVES BUC SLAB ACE RELIEF

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

Carmen Hill, Pirate hurler, who suffered a twisted leg in the seventh inning of yesterday's game with the Braves, will be lost to the Bucs for an indefinite period, it was announced today by the pitcher.

Hill was injured yesterday in making a quick play at first base. He consulted several doctors today, but did not get any relief until Captain Traynor took him to his specialist.

Earl Smith caught today's game. Gooch, who has been laboring hard the past month, is not in the best of condition and Manager Bush decided to give him a rest.

DOWNTOWN POST GOLF VICTOR

Members of Downtown Post No. 20 won the trophy offered for the best team score returned in the American Legion golf tournament held yesterday at the Edgewood Country Club. Competition was confined to members of the various posts in Allegheny county. The former soldier boys found the Edgewood sector, with its myriad of traps and bunkers, hills and dales, perplexing, and scores under 90 were few and far between. Old Man Par was never seriously menaced.

The teams were made up of five players each, each post being permitted to name five players. The winning team was made up of Frank Shea, W. K. Harrington, John Burley, Park Wiggins and J. Eckhart.

Post No. 5 from the East Liberty district finished second. This team was composed of W. E. Thompson, W. W. Warren, K. C. Witherow, T. F. Ryan and R. C. Munro.

Frank Shea, of the Downtown Post, was the winner of the prize offered for the best individual score, returning a score of 85.

The kicker's handicap was won by T. L. Corson, who had a net score of 68, this being the number which was drawn by lot.

The putting contest was won by Corson and Eckert was second. Luncheon was served at noon and dinner in the evening.

It is planned to make the tournament an annual event.

TUNNEY TRAINS FOR BOUT

SPECULATOR, N. Y., Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Gene Tunney, world's champion heavyweight, has started intensive training for his scheduled 10-round match to be held at Soldiers' Field, Chicago, in September.

The former Marine covered four miles in his road work and then had a short session with the bag yesterday. The remainder of the day was spent in golfing and fishing.

Slattery, light-heavyweight, of Buffalo, stepped three rounds with Tunney and Eddie Eagan, of Denver, went three, followed by Frank Mucke, St. Paul heavyweight, who sparred two more. Tunney's daily routine for the present will consist of three or four miles of road work, several rounds with the sparring partners, golf and fishing.

Coast Girl Wins, 6-1, 6-1

SEABRIGHT, N. J., Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Eliminated from singles yesterday by Lewis N. White, John Doeg, the youthful Californian, came back today to share in a surprising doubles victory over the intercollegiate champions, John Van Ryan and Kenneth Appel, of Princeton. Doeg's partner was Arnold W. Jones, of Providence, R. I. The score was 6-3, 9-7.

The match marked the elimination of intercollegiate titleholders from this tournament as Wilmer Allison, of the University of Texas, singles king, bowed yesterday to Francis T. Hunter.

Helen Jacobs, Berkeley, Cal., school girl, moved into the semi-finals in women's singles with a 6-1, 6-1 victory over Mrs. J. Dallas Corbiere, of Boston. Her next opponent is Miss Eleanor Goss, third ranking American player. The summaries:

Mixed doubles, first round:

Mrs. William Endicott, Boston, and Louis Thalheimer, Dallas, Tex., defeated Miss Marjorie Morrill, Dedham, Mass., and Berkeley Bell, Austin, Tex., 3-6, 6-2, 7-5.

Men's doubles, second round:

John Doeg, Santa Monica, Cal., and Arnold Jones, Providence, R. I., defeated John Van Ryn and Kenneth Appel, East Orange, N. J., 6-3, 9-7.

Women's singles, second round:

Miss Helen Jacobs, Berkeley, Cal., defeated Mrs. J. Dalls Corbiere, Boston, 6-1, 6-1.

CALZA'S CONDITION SERIOUS AFTER DEFEAT

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 3.—(INS.)—Joe Stecher, Nebraska's claimant of the world's heavyweight wrestling crown, had a better claim to the title today as a result of receiving a decision over George Calza, of Italy, here last night when Calza was unable to continue after both men fell from the ring. Calza struck his head on a chair and when he was unable to continue Stecher was awarded the match. The end came after 1 hour 23 minutes of sensational wrestling during which Calza forced the pace.

The challenger was taken to the Samaritan Hospital, where physicians said today his condition was serious. X-Ray pictures of his injuries will be made today.

A crowd of 12,000 fans, the largest ever to view a wrestling match in this city, saw the match.

BELTZHOOVER ACTIVE

Participating in its hardest week of the entire season, the Beltzhoover club must play heads-up ball to keep in the hard fight for top-notch honors in the County League. Tomorrow night at McKinley Park the crack Dormont club will be Beltzhoover's attraction.

SOCCER

By TOM BIRKS

The ease with which the District League lined up its roster and closed at one meeting indicates the trend of events in local soccer circles. It is something new in soccer organizations to line up a soccer loop at the initial meeting, so it can readily be assumed that the clubs were all pleased with the circuit last season. Despite rumors to the contrary, the election of officers shows that Sam Parks is again lined up with the organization, and this season Jack Lowther, one of the keenest soccer minds in the business, will be on the delegate end of the board.

Harry McClurg is evidently going to back the Pittsburgh Rovers this season. The Lawrenceville mentor has more success with that Rover outfit than any other soccer official down the strip, and should McClurg line up the men that he has in mind, another team of the old Rover caliber will represent the strip in the district league.

Things are quiet in the soccer camps around the mining towns. The industrial trouble has the boys on edge and it seems that for the first time in many seasons the miners will be a little late getting started. Of course the managerial end of the clubs cannot be blamed for trying to play safe. Money is tight just now, but here's hoping that Morgan, Cuddy, Curry and Bridgeville will answer the roll call at the next Keystone League meeting, called for Heidelberg at 3 p. m. next Sunday.

Ernest Balsarini, manager of the Heidelberg squad, national amateur champs, did not lose any time roping in a trio of players to fill what he thought were weak spots in the line-up that copped the simon pure banner. Just where Heidelberg was weak has not been brought to the fans' attention, but the champs must be out to repeat.

Tomorrow evening is the red letter day for soccerites. The West Penn moguls convene for the annual pow-wow with all the side shows that string along. Despite the all summer talk that President Carson would not be a candidate for re-election last-minute gossip indicates that the reigning president is willing to take another cut at the melon. However, before the meeting ends there is sure to be plenty of interesting happenings.

Spirit Lacking.

IT BEHOOVES the Pirates to snap into it before they are shoved further down in the race. A better spirit is needed in some quarters, it would appear. Take George Grantham, for instance. There is an athlete who has everything a diamond star needs, with the exception of an apparent desire to keep going throughout the season.

Grantham has been in a batting slump and evidently he has allowed it to interfere with his general play. George has as much skill as Frank Frisch, but he seems to allow himself to sag. It is true that he has been suffering with a sore leg, but it requires more than a sore leg to get players like Traynor and Frisch out of action. Perhaps Grantham's leg is worse than it appears; be that as it may he has not shown much pep in the past two weeks.

Some players have a real high fever for every-day action, but somehow they cannot make the grade. Take the case of Andy High who practically defeated the Pirates in the first two games. Andy is a dangerous batter all the time, but he was in the game at Forbes Field only because Eddie Moore was injured.

Andy's Misfortune.

"I always felt as if I could play as good as the average major league infielder," said Andy yesterday, "but I seem to have a hard time making the managers think the same way I do. When I was with the Dodgers I always tried hard, but could not always please. I remember once having tried to get an impersonal view of my defensive ability. I was acquainted with a couple of Brooklyn newspapermen and I asked these fellows to watch me and then give me an impartial verdict on the matter. If it were to be unfavorable I wanted to hear it, or otherwise. I told them as much and really sought their honest opinion. They finally advised me that they thought I was a little above the average, but I was traded."

The Braves have trimmed the Pirates six times in the last eight games. They have long been known as bugaboos to flag contenders, the Reds, Cardinals and Giants being willing to testify as to the truth of this assertion.

"They're just a mean gang to any club that's hanging around the top," said Hughey Critz. "I think they lay awake nights and get out there on that ball park before daybreak waiting for those pennant contenders."

Many members of the Pittsburgh and Boston clubs wired congratulations yesterday to Walter Johnson on the occasion of Walter's twentieth anniversary of his first appearance on the slab in a major league game. Donie Bush and Dave Bancroft were the first to felicitate the great pitcher.

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 3.—(INS.)—The Newark baseball club, of the International League, will be sold to the highest bidder at auction here September 7.

Why should I keep it to myself?

AS THE song has it, "—but I won't be happy, till I make you happy, too." I want you to share with me the joy of a pipe and Prince Albert. I may be prejudiced, but I don't believe you can find the brand of pipe-joy I'm talking about in any other way.

Why, the very moment you open the tidy red tin and breathe that glorious P. A. aroma, you know—then and there—you are going to like this tobacco, and like it lots. And, if you still have the slightest doubt, it will vanish the instant you taste the smoke itself.

Cool as a March rain beating against the window-pane. Sweet as the flowers that attract the honey-bees. Mild as the greeting of a rival—mild, but with that full tobacco body that makes the perfectly balanced smoke. A whole world of satisfaction in every single puff.

Prince Albert has pleased more pipe-smokers than any other tobacco before or since. You can ask any jimmy-piper. But the way to really know is to buy yourself a tidy red tin, tuck a load into your pipe, and light up. That's better than anybody's opinion.

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

PRINCE ALBERT
—the national joy smoke!

RICKARD MAY STAGE CHICAGO BATTLE SEPTEMBER 15

Ruth Crushed to Earth Comes Up With Another Homer

★ SUN-TELEGRAPH ★ SPORTS ★

No Dispute In Gotham

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—The Dempsey-Tunney heavyweight championship match at Chicago may be staged September 15 after all, as originally planned, instead of September 22, Promoter Tex Rickard declared today on his return from Chicago.

Rickard declared he was making every effort to convince Jack Dempsey, who has been holding out for a later date, that September 15 is the most desirable time for the title battle. The promoter has advanced his arguments in telegrams and telephone talks with the former champion within the last 24 hours and expects to decide the date definitely today. It will positively be no later than September 22, he said.

CONFERS WITH FLYNN.

Rickard conferred with Leo P. Flynn, Dempsey's manager, shortly after returning to New York, and received the latter's assurance that either September 15 or 22 would be satisfactory.

There will be no controversy with the New York State Athletic Commission, Rickard added, over his decision to hold the big bout in Chicago instead of New York. The promoter said he regarded the issue as a closed book, asserting that at no time had he given the commission any definite assurance that he would stage the fight here.

By next year, however, Rickard plans to have a stadium in the metropolitan district big enough to handle as large a fight crowd as that which saw the first Dempsey-Tunney battle in Philadelphia last September or will see the return bout in Chicago this year. He has had plans for his arena in mind for some time and intends to make New York the scene of all his big fistic spectacles of the future, he said.

BALL PARKS OUT.

"I will never stage another heavyweight championship fight in a ball park," Rickard said, in referring to the unsatisfactory seating facilities at big fights in the last few years.

The advance sale for the Chicago battle approximated $675,000 this morning, Rickard asserted after a check-up with his box office men here. The two largest orders are for $10,000 worth of tickets each from business houses—one in Chicago and the other in Cleveland.

LOU GEHRIG HITS 36TH HOMER

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Lou Gehrig advanced his season's home run total to 36 today by crashing out for the circuit in the second inning of the first game of a double-header between the Yankees and Tigers. Stoner was pitching and none was on base. The blow gave Gehrig a lead of two homers over Babe Ruth.

FIELDS IN AUTO RACES BIG

Probably the fastest field ever assembled will face the starter in the two motor events at the Pittsburgh-Bridgeville Speedway Saturday afternoon, August 13. The Keystone Recreation Corporation, with headquarters at the Frick Building, sponsoring the classics, announces that at least 40 entries will have been received by the time the entry list closes. The out-of-town pilots will be on hand early next week to tune up their cars.

Special train service will leave the Union Station at 1:10 o'clock, daylight saving time. The first race, which will be over the 75-mile distance, will get under way at 3:30. The qualifying trials will be staged Friday evening, August 12, at 6:30.

The New Kensington Speedway is in spick and span condition for the big speedfest next Saturday afternoon. How to Protect the Throat When Smoking

What 9651* Doctors say on this subject

The signed statements of intelligent men and women whose voices are to them what the hands of the day laborer are to him—the means indispensable to livelihood or success in life—are convincing. Actors and actresses, great singers, men conspicuous in public life, radio announcers, testify that they like LUCKY STRIKE cigarettes because of their finer flavor and because they do not irritate the throat.

Before such statements by laymen were published, questions had been addressed to a number of physicians in various sections of the United States—many of them leading physicians—and some replies had been received. The following is the result of the questionnaire:

Q1—In your judgment is the heat treatment or toasting process applied to tobaccos previously aged and cured, likely to free the cigarette from irritation to the throat?

9651 doctors answered this question "YES".

Q2—Do you think from your experience with LUCKY STRIKE cigarettes that they are less irritating to sensitive or tender throats than other cigarettes, whatever the reason?

11,105 doctors answered this question "YES".

Titta Ruffo, Noted Metropolitan Star, writes:

"Like scores of others whose everything is their voice and a clear throat, I, when I smoke, prefer the toasted cigarette—Lucky Strike."

Old Time Western Blizzard Roars at Sunny California As Film Actors Work in Heat

WITH the thermometer hovering anywhere from 90 to 100 degrees in the shade, wintry winds are howling over an isolated section and snow is falling in smothering clouds in California.

But shucks! You've probably guessed that it's some trick for the movies. And it is.

Harry Langdon, one of the big-time comedy stars, has created an especially ferocious blizzard as one of the high spots of "Three's a Crowd," his new comedy, now in the making. It occurs in a four-block square tenement district, also especially created at the First National studio.

One or two old residents of Southern California who still remember what a snowstorm looks like, aided Harry in creating his home-grown blizzard. It required all the secret resources of the studio to get the details perfected. Seen on the screen, the atmosphere looks frigid. In reality Harry and all his cast were miserably hot and unhappy in the heavy clothing necessary for the proper effect.

How some of the tiny details were obtained is a studio secret. Suffice it to say that Harry had steam coming from the radiator of a truck, and vapor from the nostrils of horses, and pedestrians—all while the thermometer was at its highest.

"Chinese Valentino" Found By Actor On Location

Hollywood's lure—which has drawn thousands of boys and girls from hundreds of towns to try to "get into the movies" has penetrated the stoic calm of the Oriental. Richard Dix went to Sacramento three weeks ago with a company of 50 people to film scenes for his Yangtse River picture, "Shanghai Bound." Ten Chinese he took with him were augmented there by 300 local Chinese in the mob scenes.

Later 14 of the Sacramento Chinese returned to Hollywood with Dix. They will be movie actors, they calmly announced. One of them, Carl Lyang, a 23-year-old Cantonese, is known in Sacramento as "The Chinese Valentino."

CRIPPLES TO VISIT CAMP.

Thirty-five girls from the Industrial Home for crippled children will be guests of the Allegheny County Girl Scouts at Camp Redwing tomorrow. Mrs. Edward Vose Babcock, commissioner of the Girl Scout Council, has planned the trip to camp with the co-operation of Miss Frances Shirley, director of the home.

Altar Makes Actress Citizen After Other Trials

Vilma Banky, whose recent film, "The Magic Flame," (in which she plays opposite Ronald Colman for the fourth time) will soon be released, tried for three years to become an American citizen. Quotas, residence, visitors' passports and such red tape prevented. Then she married Rod LaRocque and one day "the Hungarian Rhapsody" had become "the American beauty"—or whatever title is bestowed on her by newspaper headline-writers this year.

COMEDY BY M'GUIRE IS BOOKED FOR STOCK

Beginning next Monday night the George Sharp Production Stock Company will present "If I Was Rich," a comedy drama by William Anthony McGuire. Anne Forrest and Herbert Clark will play the leading roles.

Vera Veronina, new Russian beauty, is co-starring opposite Raymond Griffith in "Time to Love," the screen feature in the Davis this week.

"Poor But Honest" is the photoplay coming to the Harris next week. Nancy Nash, Clifford Holland and J. Farrell Macdonald are featured in what is described as a happy story of young love.

"Slaves of Beauty" is the photoplay coming to the Sheridan Square for three days beginning Monday afternoon, August 8. The cast includes Earle Foxe, Olive Tell, Margaret Livingston and Richard Walling.

Alfred Savoir, famous French playwright, wrote the original story of "Time to Love," showing this week in the Regent.

"Beau Geste," showing this week in the Liberty, was written by Maj. Percival Christopher Wren of the British army.

In "Service for Ladies," showing the week of August 8 in the Olympic, Adolphe Menjou departs from the philandering roles that have characterized much of his work in the past.

Betty Jewel, whose engagement was recently announced to Ronald Colman, is the leading woman for Gary Cooper in "The Last Outlaw," showing this week in the State.

The desert scene of "Beau Geste," showing this week in the Grand, were filmed on the "American Sahara" along the Mexican border in Southwestern Arizona.

Don't Blame Him ∴ Ol' Lucky Bill ∴ Suggesting Spain

For the first time in his screen career, Tom Mix is employing the same leading woman in several pictures. After one look at Dorothy Dwan we don't blame him. Dorothy recently completed work in the Mix picture "Tumbling River" and begins soon on another.

William Boyd seems to be posing as part of an ad for some dentifrice. William is the one in the cap between his wife, Elinor Fair, at the left, and Mary Astor, his leading woman in "Two Arabian Nights." Boyd is a doughboy and Miss Astor a princess in the picture.

Lupe Valez plays an important role in the new Douglass Fairbanks production, "The Gaucho." Taking a cue from the portrait one imagines Miss Valez is going to do something Spanish. In fact the evidence is strong that she already has done so to the extent of dressing herself in Spanish mantilla and jewelry.

"COMFORTS OF HOME" PROVIDED IN TENT CITY

Hot and cold running water was provided in the tents occupied by the [illegible] Hollywood actors and others engaged in the making of "Beau Sabreur," four miles from Guadalupe, in the heart of the California sand dunes. There were 54 tents and in each is a shower bath and faucets for chilly and warm water. The water was piped from a well a mile away and en route to the camp runs through a boiler system. "Beau Sabreur" is a sequel to "Beau Geste."

WILKINSBURG FROLIC IS SET FOR KENNYWOOD

Today the Wilkinsburg Business Men's Association will hold their annual outing at Kennywood Park. A varied program of sports and dancing has been arranged by the committee for the entertainment of the picnickers. The Wilkes Lloyd troupe will perform twice daily for the benefit of the patrons of Kennywood Park. Their exhibition will consist of four separate acts. The mammoth swimming pool, with its white sand beach, is luring thousands, and here throngs of Wilkinsburg's residents will frolic during the day. The music for the dancers will be furnished by Bob McGowan's orchestra, both in the afternoon and evening.

GIRL WITH LONG HAIR DRAWS BIG FILM ROLE

The unbobbed girls are stealing the parts from their shorn sisters in the movies. Latest of the long-haired sisterhood to draw down a big part is Shirley O'Hara, the "unknown" selected as leading woman for Adolphe Menjou in his next picture, "The Gentleman from Paris."

Cotton Market

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—A sharp break occurred in the cotton market at the opening today. An unexpectedly severe decline in Liverpool, which some traders attributed in part to the unsettling influence of President Coolidge's announcement on sentiment, was followed by a break of 46 to 52 points at the start of trading here with December selling off to 17.51c under heavy general liquidation.

This represented a decline of approximately 172 points from the recent high level, and after the first rush of selling subsided, prices steadied on covering and trade buying. By the end of the first hour December was selling at 17.71c, or about 20 points up from the lowest, with the general list showing net declines of 29 to 31 points.

Private cables reported heavy liquidation and hedge selling in Liverpool.

Foreign Exchange

(Reported by Mellon National Bank.)

The foreign exchange market Wednesday was active and strong. Sterling was up 3-16, francs up ⅛, Switzerland up 1½ points, Scandinavian up 1 point. Pesetas, however, were weak, selling down to 17¼, a drop of 2 points. The rest of the exchanges were practically unchanged.

COMPLEXION SO IMPROVED, FRIENDS ASK WHAT SHE USED

Delights in telling of simple treatment

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 29:—"I am so thankful for Resinol Soap and Ointment and what they have done for me. For several years my face has been badly broken out with small pimples. They were very sore and so embarrassing I was ashamed to go among people. I tried several treatments, even those specially prescribed, but none of them healed the trouble. At last I began to use Resinol Soap and Ointment as directed. In a few days my skin began to look better, and now it is so clear my friends ask me what I used. I delight in telling them about Resinol Soap and Ointment, and I will never be without these products."—(Signed) Mrs. Sara Burnett, 6344 Scotten Ave.

BILIOUS? DON'T BE!

Biliousness is a symptom, not a disease. A sour, sick, belching, gassy stomach gets that way because of neglected constipation. Ordinary laxatives don't seem to help much, because the liver, the stomach, the spleen, and the intestines, all have to be aided. Constipation slows up the function of and interferes even with the brain's activity.

Blackburn's Casca-Royal Pills arouse the liver, tone up the stomach and intestines, stimulate the glandular secretions, in a pleasant, perfect way. When the internal organs function regularly, away go biliousness, sour stomach, and indigestion.

Have you a throbbing at the temples, a bad taste in the mouth, halitosis (unpleasant breath), sour, bilious stomach, dark rings under the eyes and an irritable don't care languor? Take Blackburn's Casca-Royal Pills. Wake up your ambition and energy and feel good every day. In less than a dozen hours you will be on the "Wellville" road.

Forty-five pills—30 cts.—At all May's Drug Stores and all good druggists everywhere.—Advertisement.

They Called Her Scrawny But Not For Long

Is your face drawn and pinched? Your skin flabby? Are your cheeks sunken with great hollows under the eyes? Does your figure show unbecoming angles instead of the softly rounded slimness of youth?

All these conditions rob you of attractiveness and make you look old. But worst of all, these may actually be the symptoms of simple anaemia—that dread ailment so often suffered by women.

There's nothing so good as McCoy's Tablets to put on firm flesh, round out face and figure and build up rich, red blood.

So if you need a few pounds of flesh to round out the hollows, if you want to get back old-time energy and health, get a box of McCoy's Tablets today. Just a short treatment will make you look and feel like a new person.

McCoy takes all the risk—Read this ironclad guarantee. If after taking 4 sixty cent boxes of McCoy's Tablets or 2 One Dollar boxes any thin, underweight man or woman doesn't gain at least 5 pounds and feel completely satisfied with the marked improvement in health—your druggist is authorized to return the purchase price.

PURCHASE PLAN

©1927, by Hudson Motor Car Company

HUDSON-ESSEX

Again Further Reduces Cost

Buyers Can Pay for Cars Out of Income at Lowest Available Charge for Interest, Handling and Insurance

In line with Hudson's long-established policy of giving greatest value for the money and making delivery at lowest charge for handling, freight, etc., is this new advantage now made possible by the H. M. C. Purchase Plan.

The buyer who pays for his Hudson or Essex out of income is accommodated at the lowest available charge for interest, handling and insurance.

Hudson and Essex popularity was never so great. Sales were never so large. In every locality they are the most popular cars.

Performance, reliability and fine appearance can be bought at low prices, because savings due to mammoth production and superior facilities, are passed on to the buyer in increased quality and low list prices. Distribution economies likewise effect savings in charges that accrue in delivery of cars from factory to distributor and dealer which are also passed on to the buyer.

And now the H.M.C. Purchase Plan brings further savings to time purchasers.

Hudson and Essex in final cost are way below any car with which their quality, fineness and performance can be compared.

Each of these four distinctive steps contributing to Hudson-Essex values—engineering and manufacturing skill, low list prices, efficient distribution and now low financing charge, emphasize cost advantages that none can deny.

The final cost of a car is what you must consider. List prices do not always indicate values. Check every item of performance, quality and cost. Hudson and Essex are just as attractive in the final cost as the factory list price indicates.

And if you take advantage of the purchase plan remember that here, too, you are accorded the very lowest available terms.

PITTSBURGH STOCK EXCHANGE QUITS EARLY FOR LINDBERGH

New Maximum Price For Screw and Bolt

Wednesday, August 3, 1927.

In honor of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange reduced its business to three hours' duration today, the closing gong ringing at 1 p. m.

The staff showed some weakness in prices, although traders had their eyes on the New York board, where early trading showed large declines by reason of President Coolidge's announcement.

In the early trading [illegible] Motors [illegible] points lower, United States Steel [illegible] points lower, Baldwin 4 points lower, General Electric 4 points lower, Westinghouse 4⅛ points lower, Pittsburgh Coal ¾ of a point lower and Columbia Gas and Electric 1 point lower. These are several stocks largely held in Pittsburgh. Rallies were sharp and important later, some issues more than recovering their early loss.

In [illegible] trading Pittsburgh Screw and Bolt [illegible] unchanged at 41, but soon rose to 41¾, a new maximum. Pittsburgh Plate Glass at 250 was unchanged.

Lone Star Gas [illegible] higher at 46⅛, [illegible] 45¾. Duquesne Light preferred [illegible] higher at 116½.

Screw and Bolt raised its maximum to 42⅝ later in the session. Lone Star Gas went to 46. Waverly Oil was unchanged at 37. Standard Sanitary lost ¾, [illegible]. [illegible] preferred was ⅛ up at 24½.

In New York Westinghouse Electric spurted to 85⅛, [illegible] higher than yesterday's [illegible]. General Motors rallied 5¾ points and United States Steel 2½ points. There was a general rally in the market.

In the last hour of trading Pittsburgh Screw and Bolt raised its new maximum to 43⅝ on what is described as most excellent buying. Lone Star Gas continued its reaction to 46. Devonian Oil at 10½ was ½ higher. Westinghouse Electric sold locally at 86½ and ranged in New York at from 81 to 87½. Standard Sanitary declined to 91. May Drug Stores again sold at 21. Oklahoma Gas certificates at 21½ and Arkansas Gas at 8½.

STOCKS RISE AFTER DROP

largely from pools and professional traders who have been sponsoring the recent advance. So-called public participation in the market has been on a small scale in recent months, according to leading commission houses, with the bulk of speculative activity in high priced issues which do not appeal to the small speculator because of the large margin required to carry them.

Opening prices, as a rule, registered the extreme declines. The subsequent rally undoubtedly was stimulated by short covering of professional "shorts," who sold stocks freely at the opening, and by the appearance of strong banking support for the high grade issues.

DuPont, which opened 15⅝ points lower at 280, rallied to a new high record for all time at 299 before the end of the first hour. Timken Roller Bearing showed an initial loss of 5½ points at 132 and then soared to a new high record at 142. General Motors rallied from 221½ to 227½, Atchison from 193 to 197, Baltimore and Ohio from 118 to 122, Houston Oil from 145½ to 156 and United States Steel common from 134½ to 137. Similar recoveries took place in most of the other active issues.

Total stock sales in the first hour ran above 890,000 shares.

BUT THIS OPPORTUNITY WILL NOT LAST LONG.

Don't "grope in the dark," dreaming of extra money. You don't have to "pound the pavements," or go off on a "wild goose chase." Every ambitious person in the City of Pittsburgh would be anxious and glad to avail himself of this opportunity if he only knew the facts. Instead of cutting salaries, movie magnates have agreed to first try to work out production economies along other lines.

Suggestions—

Adopt Mack Sennet wardrobe system for the ladies.

Have central broadcast station for yessing directors.

Save 10,000 feet per picture by limiting kisses to 1 minute.

Prohibit directors from demonstrating how leading man should caress the ladies.

Keep mirrors off sets.

Ban mid-day conferences with bootleggers.

Insist that producers learn the English language.

Provide handy file index system for title writers.

Appeal to public for bones to feed Rin-Tin-Tin.

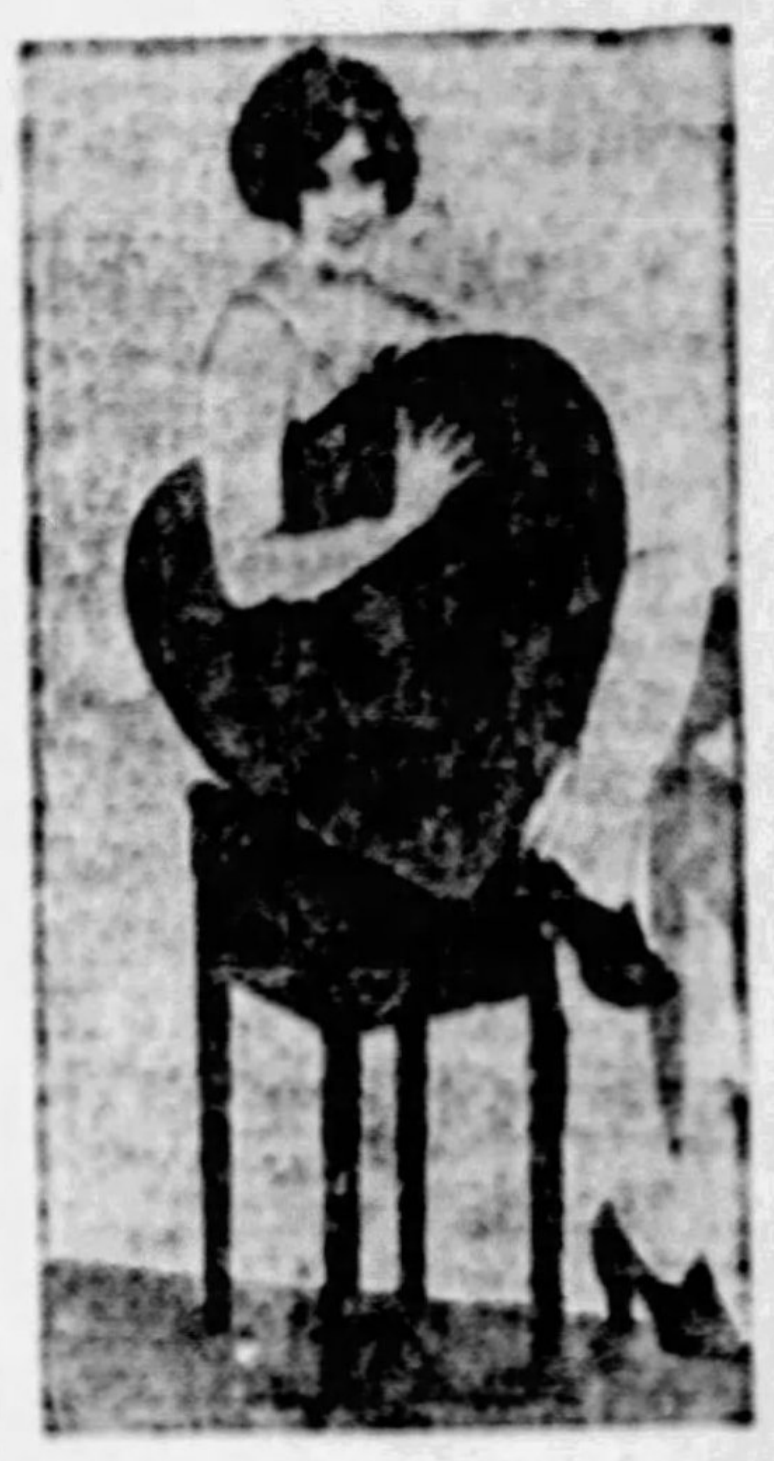
FRISBY ADOPTS POSTER FOR NATIONWIDE DRIVE



Above is the official poster adopted by Mr. Frisby for his nationwide Fresh Air Fund Appeal. "The young lady," explains Mr. Frisby, "symbolizes the countless tiny tots who have hardly a stitch to their back, while the heart represents something or other which we will decide at our next meeting." Mr. Frisby says his wife and his sister-in-law are at work apportioning the quota for each county.

WHY PITTSBURGH IS GREAT
Purchasing Power Is Nearly a Billion a Month

THE SUN-TELEGRAPH

BE A PITTSBURGH BOOSTER
To Your Friends in Other Cities

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 3, 1927.

Established by the Pitt Publishing Company. President, William Randolph Hearst; Vice-President and Publisher, H. M. Bitner; Secretary and Treasurer, A. W. Clark; Managing Editor, C. W. Danziger.

Welcome, Col. Lindbergh!

Pittsburgh Proud to Greet World Hero of the Air

COLONEL LINDBERGH, Greater Pittsburgh is proud today to give you hearty greeting!

This huge industrial community and the whole nation upon which you have reflected so much honor and glory, are glad to have you back in the United States, working for aviation, and for this country, IN the present and FOR the future,

You belong to the new era, to the day when men will be free from the power of gravitation that now holds them to the earth, and will sail over the oceans and around the world, as birds and clouds fly.

YOU REPRESENT A NEW LIBERTY, a glorious FREEDOM IN THE AIR.

You have risked your life to put America first in flying and with glorious success!

Your name will endure in the history of American achievement and of aviation,

---

Pittsburgh welcomes you; hundreds of thousands of readers of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph welcome you,

The whole nation hopes that you may live long, fly far, land safely and continue through your vigorous youth and mature years to reflet honor and glory upon your country,

Business of Nation Demands Coolidge Summon Congress

Each month sees the rise of additional powerful arguments why President Coolidge should call Congress in extra session,

First of all, there is the need of legislation in aid of the flooded districts along the Mississippi river,

Second, the treasury ended last year with a surplus of $600,000,000 that should not have been taken from the pockets of the people, We are going to have legislation for tax reduction, It is bound to be preceded by long debate in both houses of Congress, The sooner they get at it the sooner we shall know what we have to pay on our incomes of this year, In any case, individuals and corporations have a right to know well in advance of the first tax payment day, next March 15.

Everybody knows that there is going to be a long and bitter contest over the seating of Senators-elect Vare and Smith, of Illinois, It is likely that the interests which by filibuster prevented the passage of the Boulder Dam bill last year will again stage a fight to withhold this needed measure of relief from the people of the southwest, Muscle Shoals is again up for decision,

Most pressing of all, of course, is the pitiable condition of the flood victims, Seven hundred and fifty thousand of our fellow citizens were flooded, Six hundred thousand of them have remained dependent on charitable aid which could do no more than keep the wolf from the door, The money subscribed by private interests for financial relief "on a business basis" has given little or no relief, As a basis for loans, "security" was demanded in the form of unmortgaged property or crops in the process of production, Most of the property had been mortgaged to the hilt before it was flooded, and was then under water, There were no crops in process of production, Some legislation from farm relief is inevitable, it is admitted both by the President's advisers and his political opponents,

The truth is that this coming Congress faces more work than it can possibly do in a session that begins the first Monday in December and will be ended in the early summer to escape the hot season in Washington and to enable Congressmen and Senators to attend to the big 1928 political campaigns.

The President erred in not calling an extra session of Congress as soon as the extent of the flood damage was known, Since then, so many other extra session reasons have arisen that the President should take note of them and act accordingly,

Aerial Insurance

The Rates Will Drop

The cost of placing $100,000 insurance on Colonel Lindbergh's life during the period of his present flight to 75 cities in 48 States is announced as nearly $600.

The insurance is unrestricted so far as his methods of flying are concerned, He can do any "stunt" he pleases to do, That undoubtedly is one reason for the seemingly high premium,

It is probable that the first rides on railroad trains would have required about the same high premiums if the custom of insuring for journeys had been as common then as now,

Our grandfathers wouldn't believe the train could keep on the track or its passengers breathe at ten miles an hour, Indeed, many refused to believe it after it was done,

Many of us can recall the prevalent skepticism when the "horseless carriage" first appeared, It just didn't stand to reason that a contraption like that would ever take the place of old Dobbin, the family steed,

Well, time settled both anxieties, and it will settle this high cost of aerial insurance, Judging from the rapidity of developments it will do it pretty soon,

Study How Hoover's Mind Functions

Herbert Hoover's mind is ever a refreshing study, It clarifies each problem that it tackles, It does this because of its uncanny ability to separate and value all of the factors,

He has made two recent statements upon the big flood, Each was brief, But the two, together, give a clear and complete picture of what the flood did, of conditions today in the flooded area and of what can be done in further relief and in prevention,

Such minds are rare, The country is lucky to have this one in its service,

The Hearst Papers Advocate:

1. An agreement of English-speaking peoples to preserve peace among themselves and to promote the peace of the world.
2. Proportional representation in the United States Senate, no state to have less than two Senators. Legislation to enforce prompt constitutional reapportionment in the House of Representatives.
3. A separate Department of the Army, of the Navy and of the Air Forces, all united under a Secretary of National Defense.
4. Federal action to the limit of Federal powers to abolish illiteracy in the United States under a Secretary of Education.
5. Election of Congress in November. Installation on the 1st of January following. Inauguration of the President 1st of January next after November election.

Salesmanship

By BRUNO LESSING

SALESMANSHIP is the art of inducing a person to buy something. American business men are proud of the fact that this country has the best salesmen in the world. So much stress has been laid upon this art or science or profession or habit—whatever you choose to call it—that many of the young generation, planning their business future and dazzled by the intriguing stories of wonderful salesmanship, look forward to becoming great salesmen just as, in the early days of the republic, they all looked forward to becoming President of the United States.

A salesman with a pleasing personality, a gift of the gab and a little knowledge of the psychology of ignorance can accomplish wonders. He can sell an icebox to an Eskimo, a set of Shakespeare to a gunman, a foot warmer to a Zulu, a bottle of sea water to a ship captain or a telescope to a blind man.

In the natural and orderly development of industry, salesmanship is necessary in order to bring to people's attention the merits of the wares that are offered to them. The average salesman, however, is easily carried away by his own enthusiasm and his commission and loses sight of all earthly connection between the thing he is selling and the need of his victim for that particular thing.

The salesman merely wants to sell. And the less use his customer has for the article the more does the salesman admire his own ability when he succeeds in getting his customer to buy it.

So much has been written about salesmanship and so highly is it admired that it needs no writer to come to its support. It might, however, not be amiss if a little encouragement were given to the helpless victims of salesmanship.

FROM PIT TO PULPIT—

William Jones of Rhos, a young Welsh coal miner, has been called from the pit to the pulpit. Mr. Jones has worked down the mines from his boyhood. He began, when 20, to win his way out of the pit, and bought books with his earnings, which he studied eagerly in his spare time. He began to occupy pulpits in Welsh villages, until gradually he became known as the coal-miner preacher.

"Just Folks"

JANET

WHEN Janet was born,
She was tiny and frail,
And the doctor that morn
Rather troubled and pale,
Told her mother and me,
As he bent to appraise her:
"She's as cute as can be
But I don't think you'll raise her."

WHEN Janet was one
She was tiny, but still
She'd already begun
Demonstrating her will
And her mother once said,
Or several times maybe,
As she put her to bed:
"She's too wise for a baby!"

WHEN Janet was three
She was sturdy and stout
And she domineered me
Until I was worn out.
To share in her play
Was my duty on Sundays,
Which I did, and I'll say
I was no good on Mondays.

AND now she is five
And despite all we say
Somehow she'll contrive
Still to have her own way.
And the mother says now
When that roguish tyke bad is;
"She's stubborn, I vow!
But that's just how her dad is!"

New York Day by Day
by
O.O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—Broadway recently presented two sharp extremes which, in a measure, symbolized the opposites of that thoroughfare, One was Earl Carroll, who had been lifted to the pinnacle of Broadway's fame, being carried broken and semi-conscious to a Federal prison,

The other was Robert Hilliard, the handsome actor, living the last of his despairing days on the bounty of a $10,000 gift from a friend, It is because Broadway bestows with one hand and takes away with the other that it is rarely understood,

It is a street of impulses—often as thoughtless as generous, In one of those night hide-aways where denizens seem as colorless white as the wriggly things under old rocks a patron suddenly sprawled across a table. A gush of blood from his mouth stained the tablecloth.

Before he was carted away in an ambulance, it is related, every man in the place completely emptied his pockets and stuffed the contents into the pockets of the stricken victim. It was enough to pay for a needed rest in a more healthy atmosphere.

And only a few months before a beautiful girl of the show world lurched into another haunt, more dazzling. With inane sallies, she interrupted the dancing and entertainment. She was hooted and jeered. But she babbled on, for she was then quite mad. And still is.

There is a saying in Times Square that "they never come back." And they rarely do. Broadway worships chiefly success and the truly successful generally keep away from the street after they reach their goal. The path is too slippery.

Broadway will always give a "benefit" for a fallen brother, but it does not care to have him around after that. There are many such still hanging about the district, indulging a futile hope. They have tasted the rich fruits. They cannot believe it is all over.

Pigeon feeding at dusk on the library steps along Fifth avenue is taking on the color of St. Mark's. Library eaves are packed with pigeons—hundreds of them—and the whirr as they flutter down to the feeders can be heard above the street roar.

Many smart cafes have shaded menu prices downward. It is slight, to be sure, but a satisfying reaction to reckless charges. One restaurateur explained it simply with: "We found we could afford to do it." We double dare them to take care of our hats and coats free.

* * *

Maiden Lane houses the bulk of New York's fine unsold jewels. The few crooks who have ventured below the dead line at Fulton street call it "the street of suspicion." Loiterers are not welcomed and many eyes are on constant guard. When a pedestrian stops too long he will find someone a short space away ready for an emergency. Every employe of responsibility has a permit to carry a pistol. So carefully is it protected, it is said that in two minutes the thoroughfares can stop all arrivals or departures.

Inspector Byrnes established the crooks' "dead line" at Fulton street. It was done to protect vaults of hoarded gold in Wall street. The crook who violated this unwritten law became a marked man. He was trailed every moment until he was caught in some crime or found the espionage so annoying he left the city. Byrnes' order was really a test of the "honor among thieves" theory. If one strayed over the line he received the contempt of his guild along with police vengeance.

Inspector Byrnes, incidentally, said: "What is often mistaken for honor among thieves is really a fear of vengeance."

CRIME

By DR. FRANK CRANE.

Justice William Harman Black brought out some very good points on the matter of crime the other day at the meeting of the Crime Study Commission in Chicago, After many years of practical experience on the bench and after thoroughly investigating the subject, he mentioned the following items:

In the first place, we should recognize that crime is a business, and as much a calling as being a merchant, a doctor or a laborer, A young man goes into a career of crime because of his love of adventure, It is a gambling proposition, The odds are against him, and he enjoys pitting his life and liberty against success,

The fact that most criminals are eventually apprehended and punished does not deter him, Youth is always ready to take a chance, The criminal therefore ought not to complain if, after the risk he took with his eyes open, he suffers the penalty of the law, and other people ought not to complain for him, Justice should be swift and relentless,

Criminals ought not to be removed from one state to another as a matter of courtesy, as now, but as a matter of law, Laws ought to be changed to compel the return of criminals from one state to another, Judges and policemen ought to be experts in practical criminology, Their business is not merely to apprehend and punish the persons, but to understand how to reform the man and how to protect society,

Much could be done if judges were required to examine the prisoner before the lawyers get hold of him, as is the case in many European countries,

The rule that a man can be convicted only by unanimous consent of 12 of his peers, is not fair to society,

A conviction ought to rest upon a two-thirds vote, One crook, one fool or one mush-head ought not to be able to clear a man in a courtroom before an applauding audience, Many of the laws of Scotland, Belgium and Switzerland, and many of those of the United States, provide this,

Experts witnesses should not be called by the prosecution or defense, but should be experts employed by the court, as free as possible from all influence governing their decision, In many criminal cases in Europe they have a thirteenth juror, who only casts his vote when one of the 12 becomes ill or dies,

Prisoners should be paid for their work, and as far as possible reimburse from their earnings the victim or the family, They should be taught a trade and enabled to obtain a position in society when they have finished their prison term,

When a man is unjustly convicted in a lower court, and afterwards vindicated by a higher court, he should be reimbursed the expense he has had in defending himself, The accused should not be compelled to pay for the mistakes of the prosecution, The judge lays the greatest emphasis, however, upon family training and attractive home conditions, These are the greatest instrumentalities in the prevention of crime,

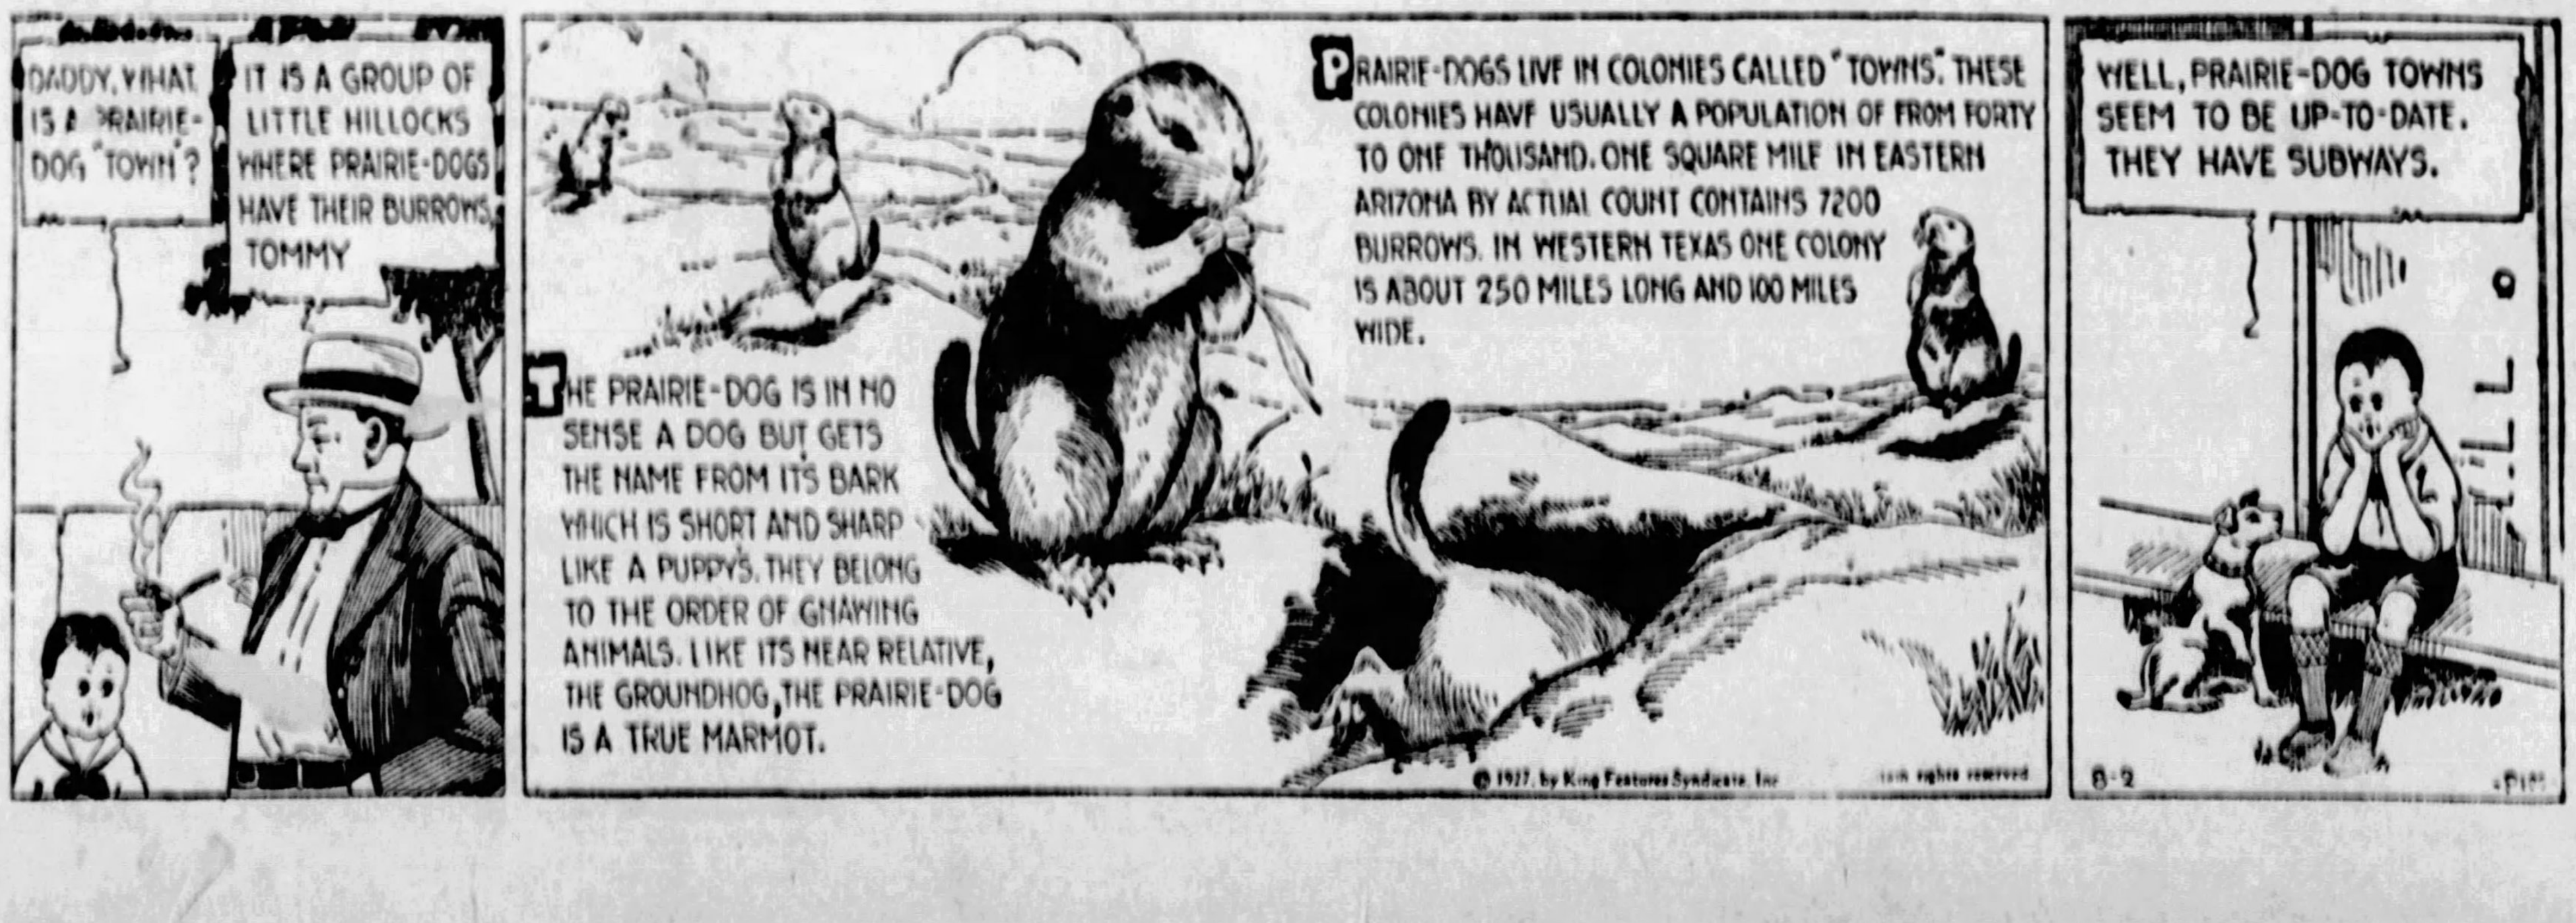
TELLING TOMMY

By Pim



DADDY, WHAT IS A PRAIRIE-DOG "TOWN"?
IT IS A GROUP OF LITTLE HILLOCKS WHERE PRAIRIE-DOGS HAVE THEIR BURROWS, TOMMY
THE PRAIRIE-DOG IS IN NO SENSE A DOG BUT GETS THE NAME FROM ITS BARK WHICH IS SHORT AND SHARP LIKE A PUPPY'S. THEY BELONG TO THE ORDER OF GNAWING ANIMALS. LIKE ITS NEAR RELATIVE, THE GROUNDHOG, THE PRAIRIE-DOG IS A TRUE MARMOT.
PRAIRIE-DOGS LIVE IN COLONIES CALLED "TOWNS". THESE COLONIES HAVE USUALLY A POPULATION OF FROM FORTY TO ONE THOUSAND. ONE SQUARE MILE IN EASTERN ARIZONA BY ACTUAL COUNT CONTAINS 7200 BURROWS. IN WESTERN TEXAS ONE COLONY IS ABOUT 250 MILES LONG AND 100 MILES WIDE.
WELL, PRAIRIE-DOG TOWNS SEEM TO BE UP-TO-DATE. THEY HAVE SUBWAYS.
